

500 Fund 'Made Christmas a Bright Star in Our Year'

"It made Christmas a bright star in our year."

In one sentence, a grateful woman packaged the feelings of 500 families who received cheques from The Daily Colonist 500 Fund. Hundreds of such notes flooded the Colonist office soon after Christmas, written by people trying to find words to say a special "thank you."

They were written on Christmas cards, on foolscap, or even on scraps of paper. Some, written by crippled hands or by people with failing eyesight, were barely legible. But the message always came through. "With the cheque I was able to give my four children and myself one of the nicest and happiest Christmases we ever had."

"It made our world and our Christmas seem the best ever..." "When I got the cheque, I knew the children would have a merry Christmas after all..."

The letters were addressed to The Daily Colonist, but they were really meant for the people of Victoria whose contributions have made the fund such a success during the past three years. "If the people who so generously contributed to the fund could see how much happiness and joy is given, they would feel well rewarded."

"Thank everyone for us. We can't really express in words the thanks. It made so much difference in Christmas for our family..." "Thanks to all who made this wonderful gift possible. Tears of joy are so comforting..."

In three years, 1,500 such families have been helped at Christmas. Selected by city welfare agencies, they each received a cheque to be used as they saw fit to make their Christmas brighter. This year, the welfare agencies will pick 500 more families, and again it will be up to the people who contribute. The fund opened Sunday, and since then a total of $205.09 has been raised. Later this week, a list of donors will be published. Donations should be sent to The Daily Colonist 500 Fund, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria, or left at the Colonist office at that address. They can also be dropped at the Colonist's downtown business office, 1215 Broad Street. The fund will be kept open as long as possible, and cheques will be sent out just in time for Christmas. Donations sent now may be your earliest Christmas present of the year. They may also be the most important, and the most satisfying.

Newfoundland Probes Outbreak of Scurvy

ST. JOHN'S Nfld. (CP)—Dr. John Davies, chief medical officer for Newfoundland, said Tuesday night the health department is investigating a "sizable outbreak" of scurvy among provincial children. He said the "mass of children affected by the disease are under the age of one year." He could not estimate the number affected.

Atomic Force Planned

PARIS (Reuters)—The National Assembly Wednesday debated a 1960 military budget that provides for a 1,000,000-man army, half of it stationed in Algeria, and development of an "atomic striking force."

Total estimated expenditure for the year is 1,650,000,000 francs (about $3,160,000,000). This is 61,000,000 francs (about $123,300,000) more than the proposed military budget and 16,000,000 francs (about $32,480,000) above the estimated actual expenditures this year.

Engagement? Duchess Won't Say

LONDON (Reuters)—A spokesman for the Duchess of Kent Wednesday declined to comment on a newspaper report of rumors of a possible engagement between her daughter, Princess Alexandra, and Crown Prince Harold of Norway. The report by The Daily Sketch gossip columnist says it is known that the crown prince's father, King Olaf, is "anxious that his son should marry into the British Royal Family."

Tighten Up RCs Told

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII last night asked Catholics to set a "good example" by putting their house in order so they would have a right to ask for the return of all Christians to the Roman Catholic Church.

Mother Free, Didn't Know Son Hunting

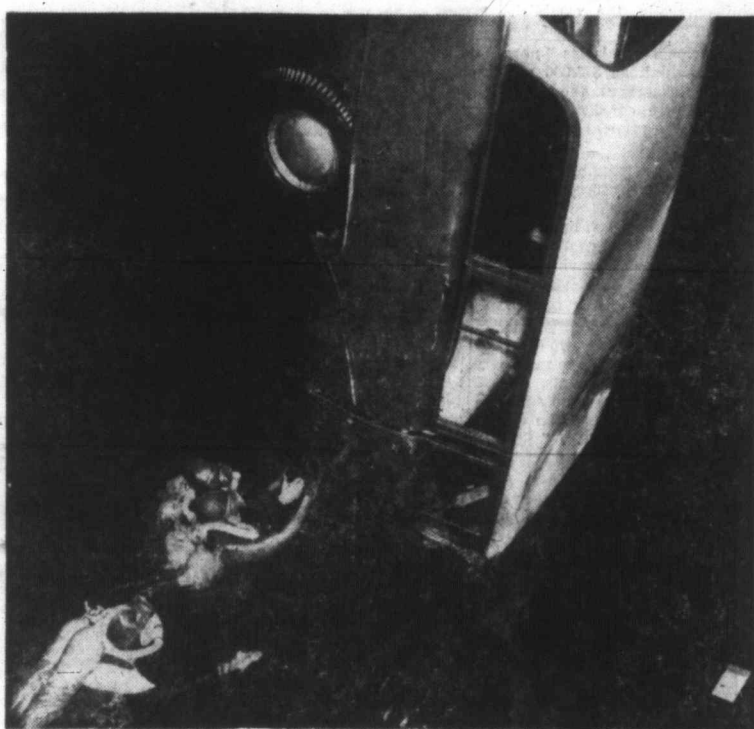

CHILLIWACK (CP)—A Chilliwack mother, charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency after her son was injured in a hunting accident, was acquitted of the count in police court here Wednesday.

Mrs. John Ferguson testified she did not know that her 13-year-old son had gone hunting with a 14-year-old companion.

Officer Rescues Driver in Plunge

A navy officer plunged into Esquimalt harbor yesterday to rescue a Victoria woman who could not swim seconds after her station wagon skidded off the navy refueling jetty into 35 feet of water.

Lieut. Robert Duston was credited with saving the life of Mrs. Mary Locke, wife of Lt.-Cmdr. M. M. Locke, 982 Darwin. Mrs. Locke, rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital, escaped with mild shock and minor bruises.

Mother of four children, Mrs. Locke still didn't know last night how she had managed to get out of the station wagon. A non-swimmer who is "scared to death" of the water, she dismissed the situation by saying:

"I guess my number just wasn't up yet."

After driving her husband to HMCS Margaree, which was tied up at the jetty, Mrs.

Locke attempted to turn the station wagon on the jetty. It skidded, went over the 10-inch safety rail, and dropped 12 feet into the water.

Lieut. Duston, duty officer aboard the Margaree, saw the accident, raced to the jetty, and dove into the harbor. He got there just as Mrs. Locke popped to the surface, and towed her back to the jetty.

Silent 'Talking Car' Fears to Embarrass

The mystery of why the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce "talking police car" doesn't talk was cleared up for members of the organization last night—more or less.

The car circulates through the downtown area during the pre-Christmas shopping rush and, by means of a loud-speaker, warns pedestrians and motorists against dangerous traffic practices.

Only trouble with the scheme, a number of members pointed out at a general meeting last night, is that the talking police car actually doesn't do very much talking.

And the reason, according to Jaycee senator Bud Simpson, is that the Victoria police constable detailed to participate in the Junior Chamber scheme by talking over the loud-speaker has been under orders from Chief John Blackstock "not to embarrass anyone individually" by talking to them about traffic infractions.

Pearkes Mum On CF-100 Replacement

OTTAWA (UPI)—Defence Minister George Pearkes declined comment yesterday on U.S. Air Force Gen. Laurence Kuter's statement that Canada should replace the CF-100 jet interceptor with a more modern plane. Canadian air defences come under Kuter's command.

'Clobber' Sub Fleet In Making

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Admiral Arleigh Burke said Wednesday night that about 45 Polaris missile submarines, the kind the U.S. navy is building, "will be able to clobber any aggressor who would dare attack us."

The chief of naval operations declared that:

With the Polaris in the nation's arsenal of retaliatory weapons "we do not have to keep piling missile on missile just to make sure that some missiles would survive an armed attack."

Mikoyan Arrives In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—First deputy Soviet premier Anastas I. Mikoyan arrived here yesterday from Halifax, N.S., in a turbo-jet plane to open a Russian exposition Saturday.

"I am happy the exposition opening comes at a time when there is a lessening of international tension due to the U.S. talks between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev," he said.

Mikoyan, with a party of 29, was welcomed by Mexican Foreign Minister Manuel Tello.

Curtice Badly Shaken

ST. ANNE ISLAND, Ont. (UPI)—Former General Motors vice-president Harry W. Anderson was shot and killed yesterday by Harlow W. Curtice, retired GM president, during a duck hunting expedition.

The accident occurred on an exclusive hunting preserve on the south end of this island near the Canadian mainland on Lake St. Clair while the Canadian duck hunting season was only hours old.

EXCITED

The operator of the lodge where the accident occurred said Anderson apparently became "excited" and stood up in Curtice's line of fire.

The lodge operator, Capt. Ray Brunzell, said Curtice was "very broken, I can tell you that," by the accident.

IN SAME BLIND
Brunzell said Curtice and Anderson were together in a duck blind and that two other members of their party, Art Brown and George Kennedy, owner of the hunting preserve and lodge, were in another.

"It is my understanding that they were shooting at ducks and that Mr. Anderson may have gotten excited and stepped in front of Mr. Curtice," Brunzell said.

STATE OF SHOCK
Ontario Provincial Police constable Owen Collins, who talked with Curtice when the hunting party arrived on the mainland, said the former GM executive appeared to be in a state of shock.

PALE, SHAKEN
"He was pale and obviously shaken by the accident," Collins said. "He was in control of himself but he appeared to be very disturbed underneath."

Collins said Curtice told him substantially the same story about the accident as Brunzell related.

IN LINE OF FIRE
"He said he had taken aim on a duck and Anderson stood up just as he pulled the trigger," Collins said.

Collins said the matter had been referred to Crown attorney S. A. K. Logan but said he presumed "there will be an inquest."

Ottawa to Blame

Schools Throttled By Tight Money

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said last night that the "foolish tight money policy" of the federal government is throttling British Columbia's school building program.

"At the provincial level we are doing everything possible to prevent curtailment of school construction," he said.

But, he warned, "unless the money market situation drastically improves the school building program will, of necessity, be severely restricted."

He said the government had authorized school building referendums totalling more than $5,000,000, but "even if the owner-electors assent, neither the school boards nor my department can be assured of the availability of funds on the bond market, or temporary bank borrowings, to enable construction projects to proceed."

He said that in July of this year the provincial government sold $6,000,000 worth of school bonds at a price of $93.54 per $100, or a cost to the boards of 5.758 per cent.

"This month, when we found the market was not receptive to more school bonds, the provincial government purchased $6,000,000 worth of these bonds. This makes a total of $12,000,000 worth of bonds sold this year to enable school boards to continue their construction programs," he said.

Gun in His Stomach Jammed—Saved Him

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man testified Wednesday his life was spared by the jamming of a gun which was allegedly used earlier to kill his sister.

John Rivers appeared at the preliminary hearing of Raymond Leonard Schultz, 34, of Vancouver, charged with murder in the death of Lois Rivers in the bathroom of a suite here Oct. 4.

Schultz was remanded for trial in B.C. Supreme Court. Rivers testified that a 9-mm. semi-automatic pistol was shoved into his stomach by Schultz.

"It apparently didn't fire, so he struck me over the head," Rivers said. He wrestled the gun from Schultz and tried to shoot the accused as he fled the apartment, but the gun was still jammed, he testified.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

AVIS WALTON, Victoria businesswoman and guidebook publisher, has written a play called "The Wendigo of the Forbidden Plateau."

Peninsula Players will stage it at Sidney, Dec. 18 and 19.

I'm told that it's a light-hearted thing, made up of Indian mythology and jibes at that long-suffering target for humor, the English community of Vancouver Island.

But the title of the play jars on me. The Wendigo, a terrible spirit monster, never formed a part of Pacific Coast Indian mythology.

It's an Ojibway monster from Ontario—a flying horror which no man must look upon. Anyone who is unlucky enough to see it will turn into a Wendigo himself.

An enterprising owner of the Forbidden Plateau Lodge brought it here from Ontario, to use in his pamphlet advertising the hotel.

The Indians of Vancouver Island believed that the plateau was haunted by evil influences, didn't they? The Wendigo was a mythological Indian monster, wasn't it?

So it was perfectly in order for a Wendigo to haunt the Forbidden Plateau.

I suppose the hotelman must have followed that line of reasoning. But is it good enough? Foreign doctors must pass examinations before they can work here. Lawyers from outside the province must plank down several hundred dollars for the right to speak in a B.C. court.

Why should an alien monster be allowed to come in and practise his craft without even getting a provincial licence?

I asked Avis about this on the telephone.

"The Wendigo is an imported beast," I said.

"Why did you build a play around it?"

"It's generally accepted as belonging here now," she said.

"Why?"

"Because of the publicity," Avis told me calmly.

I couldn't argue against that. Perhaps a monster has as much right to move across the country as any other Canadian.

I'll wait until I see Avis's play, before I make up my mind.

Jubilee Staff Backs Water Fluoridation

The medical staff of Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday announced it "wholeheartedly" supports fluoridation of the Greater Victoria water supply.

He said the resolution supporting fluoridation was passed by unanimous vote.

B.C. Urged to Support The Diabetes Campaign

Health Minister Eric Martin urged all British Columbians to support the Diabetes Detection Campaign now in progress.

"Co-ordinated action can mean so much in the fight against diabetes," he said.

"Because of insulin, it is estimated that upwards of 15,000,000 people are now living near-normal lives and with a life expectancy that warrants the issuing of life insurance policies to them," he said.

Early detection means so much to the control of this disease, he said.

The active Diabetes Detection Campaign continues until Saturday.

Pledged By Gagliardi

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi admitted to British Columbia motel operators Tuesday that a lack of directional road signs is a "legitimate beef" of tourists.

The minister promised to do all he could to remedy the situation, but said new signs would not give directions to specific resorts, but "to show you which way you are going."

Mr. Gagliardi was speaking to the convention of the Auto Courts and Resorts Association of B.C.

Sooke Decision

School Pay Dispute To Go to Arbitration

The salary dispute between Sooke school district and more than 70 teachers will go to arbitration.

J. S. Williams, the board's salary chairman, made the announcement last night.

Salary disputes have already gone to arbitration in Greater Victoria school district 61 and Saanich school district 63.

Mr. Williams, past president of Vancouver Island School Trustees' Association, argued that the board's offer had been "fair and generous."

"The board now considers that it is time to hold the line," he said.

BURDEN SHIFTED?

He accused the provincial government of "ridding itself of debt at the expense of local... school boards," and challenged the province to share in meeting any further increases in teachers' salaries.

Mr. Williams issued the following statement:

"Original demands of the teachers amounted to 17.6 per cent, which were eventually scaled down to 15.2 per cent. The trustees felt that they could not go beyond four per cent, which would mean a levy of one mill throughout the school district."

"... Over the past nine years, teachers' salaries have increased 80 per cent, and during this period some teachers have actually enjoyed salary increases of from 122 to 151 per cent."

"To the best of my knowledge, teachers have enjoyed annual salary increases every year during my nine years on the school board. The Sooke school board now feels that it is time to hold the line, or, if that is not possible, at least to reduce the amount of these annual increases."

"Government financial policies, of ridding themselves of debt at the expense of the local municipal councils and school boards, have resulted in an increase in taxation in the Sooke school district for teachers' salaries from 1.2 mills in 1955 to 6.6 mills in 1959."

"We contend that any further increase in teachers' salaries should be at the expense of the provincial government, which is the authority for the training, licensing and classifying of all teachers, but which refuses to assist in any way whatsoever in the establishment of salaries.

"Principals' salaries now range as high as $11,000 and $12,000 throughout the province and are considerably in excess of the salaries of school superintendents."

"The British Columbia Teachers' Federation refuses to deal with salaries except on an individual school board basis. Its policy is thus 81 different salary scales in the province."

"This situation makes an empty promise out of the recently announced intention of the Teachers' Federation to police their own ranks to maintain acceptable standards, because to be of any value such policing would have to be on a provincial basis..."

Indians to Defy Ban on Peyote

Appeal Possible

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Indian members of the Native American Church of North America may take their fight for the right to use peyote, a cactus herb with debatable effect on the senses, to the United States supreme court.

The U.S. 10th circuit court of appeals at Denver said yesterday the Navajo tribal council was within its rights to forbid the use of peyote on the Arizona-New Mexico reservation.

But Frank Takes Gun, head of the Native American Church, said its 200,000 members will appeal to the supreme court—and will keep on using peyote as their forefathers have "from time immemorial."

Takes Gun said peyote is only a harmless herb, chewed or drunk in the form of a herb brew. His church looks on it as a "sacrament... like holy communion," Takes Gun said.

Former Lumber King Gives UBC $400,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia announced yesterday it will use a gift of $400,000 to construct a centre for graduate students.

The money was donated by Leon J. Koerner, retired chairman of the Alaska Pine and Cellulose Ltd., in memory of Mrs. Koerner who died last July.

U.K., German Chiefs Reach Broad Accord

LONDON (UPI)—Britain and West Germany reached broad agreement yesterday on summit strategy and the outlines of a policy for controlled, phased disarmament, diplomatic sources disclosed.

The sources said the accord followed a series of discussions between Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and their foreign ministers.

The chancellor was joined here yesterday by his foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano, who met with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd for detailed discussions of the accord reached by their chiefs.

Diplomatic sources said that in two days of negotiations so far the British and German leaders had reached these broad arrangements:

An understanding on a three-point agenda for East-West summit talks, probably in late April or early May, to comprise East-West relations, disarmament and the German problem, including Berlin.

An Anglo-German accord in principle on a policy of controlled, phased disarmament.

A formal British pledge to drop plans for military disengagement or "thinning out" in the Cold War area of Central Europe.

Plans for large controlled zones of disarmament in Europe to be considered only in the context of a European—especially a German—settlement.

A German assurance of liberal trade policies of the six-nation West European Common Market as well as a German promise not to exclude Britain politically from the European community.

RCAF May Be Armed With Gift of U.S. Planes

Replacement Possibility Discussed by Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—There is a possibility that the United States will supply Canada free with new interceptors to replace the aging CF-100 jets, informed sources said Wednesday.

It could not be learned whether Canadian and U.S. officials have actually been negotiating on possible equipping of RCAF fighter squadrons in Canada with American interceptors at no cost to this country.

But informants said this possibility has been discussed within the defence department as one solution for the problem of what to do about replacing the subsonic CF-100 which has been in service eight years.

Another possibility is that production of the supersonic CF-104 might be extended beyond 1963 to supply enough planes for a few interceptor squadrons in Canada. This would be relatively inexpensive after production of 200 CF-104s for the RCAF air division in Europe.

Still the most likely course, however, sources said, is for Canada to rely on Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles.

Harvesting To Wait Till Spring

OTTAWA (CP)—Prairie farmers apparently will have to wait until next spring before attempting to harvest more than one-quarter of Canada's wheat crop of 413,500,000 bushels.

That picture emerged Wednesday as the bureau of statistics reported 112,408,000 bushels of Prairie wheat remained unharvested at Nov. 1 after the worst harvest season in eight years.

A Practical Offer

CANADA'S resolution for establishing world-wide sampling of radioactive fallout on the surface of the globe was endorsed unanimously by the general assembly of the United Nations this week. This country appended a sincere and practical offer—to undertake immediately the formation of laboratory staff and equipment necessary to treat the samples and share the information generally with all of the signatories of the United Nations' charter. Moreover, this readily can be done. There is no question but that such a watch around the world would have far-reaching consequences, and if conducted on co-operative lines would also have the goodwill of the participants.

In a world where sword-rattling for effect has become far too general for human comfort or to meet its assumed aim of impressing others, this one clear thought by Canada comes like a breath of fresh clean air. If the ashes of nuclear fission are gradually polluting some regions of the earth it is only wisdom to ascertain in what degree that has already occurred and what feasible means can be adopted to avoid a more deadly build-up as time goes on. The sampling envisaged by Canada is a physical operation: plants and other objects are examined for strontium or other harmful content. The actual samples can be forwarded to a central laboratory such as this nation has volunteered to supply; this would become the clearing house.

Not on the surface and not expressed, but unquestionably in the minds of the 78 nations which supported the resolution there is much deeper significance to the move. The same testing around the world in every country could be made to give an accurate and current answer to what fissionable reaction is being carried on in the world at any time. This would apply to surface, aerial and, by extension, to sub-surface explosions of nuclear force set off for any purpose whatever. In short, if the scientists are right and they seem assured of their findings, surprise concentrations of nuclear weapons could be made impossible.

Spread the Polls

NOW that the market building is no longer available for use as a central polling station for the civic elections the opportunity should be seized to spread polling booths around the city. This is the pattern followed during federal and provincial elections, and there never was over-riding reason why Victoria City elections should be centred at one place and one place only.

Municipal elections do not result in the turn-out of voters that is most desired and this is generally put down to apathy. It may also be attributed, in part at least, to the difficulties of getting to the polls. If the weather is unfavorable, which it often is in December, it may be inconvenient to the point even of some hardship for people to travel lengthy distances before they can cast their votes. This is especially the case with elderly persons, of whom there are many in Victoria. It should be quite easy to arrange at least half-a-dozen polling stations sited in varying districts—Fairfield, James Bay, Victoria West, Haultain, etc. The basement levels of public schools could be used, as some of them are in provincial and federal elections. This would obviate the need for every Victoria voter to go all the way downtown in order to vote, as has been the case in the past.

It might be that spreading the polling stations would make things less felicitous for election officials and perhaps add an hour or two's delay to the final count. These are unimportant considerations when set against the convenience of the electors. Voting is a duty and the voter must make some effort to cast his ballot, but he should not have to put up with difficulties that are needless. This is not a village with a handy central point, but a fairly busy city in which traffic problems make travelling awkward on many occasions. Election day is usually one of these.

The Airport Puzzle

IF Trans-Canada Air Lines is to establish jet service across Canada between Montreal and Vancouver next April, as announced by President G. R. McGregor at Winnipeg this week, little time remains in which to bring determination to what the Dominion intends to do about lengthening the main runways at Patricia Bay airport. Bearing in mind that these will be multi-million-dollar types, and that Vancouver's airport is at times unserviceable through bad weather for heavy plane landings, Patricia Bay should certainly be put into shape to receive the jet machines; both for the flying protection involved and due to Victoria as direct participation in the national service.

The record up to this point has been one of shuffling in quarters where the need should be best known. Defence Minister Peakes was elected on a platform which included the lengthening of Patricia Bay airport runways. For some time the defence minister said that the work would be done. Then he advised that the runways would be "strengthened" and a new terminal building erected. Still later Mr. Peakes withdrew even the terminal building as immediate work, leaving the (completed) "strengthening" of the runways. In flying terms, that leaves Patricia Bay as a second class airport.

For a community of some 130,000 people, among the most air-minded in the nation, that is neither the fulfilment of the promise nor any position in which it can afford to remain for long. Of late Ottawa has cited disagreement between the two governments over relocation of the east boundary road as a reason for inaction. Mr. Gagliardi, as provincial highways minister, has cleared that up. He reaffirmed B.C. is offering the fullest possible co-operation to relocate the airport road, but that the Dominion must pay the costs. That is a correct position for the province to take, and there has been no delay visible at this end.

We suggest, again, that Victoria should not be shunted in this fashion, and that it is in the national interest to put Patricia Bay in flying shape, as promised.

Interpreting the News

Laos Mission Difficult

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DAG Hammarskjöld's mission to Laos is one of the most delicate of his numerous tasks in quiet diplomacy since becoming secretary-general of the United Nations in 1953.

It may in fact be the most ticklish of the lot. Hammarskjöld often has tackled toughies. But in earlier intervention his actions were authorized by the UN security council or the assembly, or else he had the backing of both the United States and the Soviet Union.

In confirming expectations that he would station a representative in Laos, Hammarskjöld appears to have gone against the wishes of Russia, as expressed by Soviet Ambassador Arkady Sobolev just before the UN chief left New York.

Diplomats note that the previous secretary-general, Trygve Lie, resigned because he feared that the Soviet opposition to his role in the Korean intervention undermined his effectiveness and made it unwise for him to try to continue in the job.

This may sound ominous for Hammarskjöld's future in the UN, but the same diplomats stress that the Korean War was a much more serious affair than what is happening in Laos.

Some clues to a solution of Hammarskjöld's difficulty may be seen in the diplomatic double-talk that was exchanged just before he undertook his mission to Laos, which says it is the victim of aggression from neighboring Communist North Viet Nam.

Sobolev told Hammarskjöld then that a visit to Laos by him or "the proposed stationing of a personal representative of the secretary-general in Vietnamese, as well as any other action on the part of the United Nations in this question, can only further complicate the situation there."

Hammarskjöld said his trip had no implications regarding "the international situation in Laos, the external relations of that country, or the arrangements agreed upon in Geneva in 1954."

The Russians have repeatedly said the Laotian crisis could be solved by application of the 1954 agreement, which ended the Indo-China war and established an international truce commission for Laos, including Canada, India and Poland.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."
By TOM TAYLOR

A LITTLE item in the paper enhanced my ego the other morn, when it was affirmed by a professor of zoology that if one is born in summer one is likely to be swifter on the uptake than if one is born in winter.

Summer and winter are elastic terms, be it noted, ranging from May to October and November to April respectively. Seemingly spring and fall babies do not deserve a separate classification. They go along with the snow or the sunshine.

Since the sun shone on my arrival—I suppose so, anyway, for it usually does in July—it was stimulating to think one belonged to the high IQ coterie, even if nothing hitherto had persuaded one he travelled in such select company. I was so uplifted by this discovery indeed as to hasten to bask in the glory of famous names.

The result was a cold douche. One can pick names out of mind as one does out of a hat—even, perhaps, out of a zoo since zoos normally contain quite a mixture. The operation is chancy, so that the verity of the selection might be challenged. But offhand I thought first of Churchill, Beethoven, Darwin—brainy men all.

Alas, like Burns they are of the winter breed, and I can have no link with them. This was dampening, but I cogitated some more and came up with Napoleon. Sure enough he brightened the Corsican scene in summer, and even if he had a chip on his shoulder no one can depreciate the quality of his intellect. My ego purged again.

I thought suddenly of politicians, our own. Since he is the current prime minister I turned up the birthday of John Diefenbaker. He belongs, a child of the scintillating summer months. Strangely, though, he is alone in his eminence. There could have been no succession of winters of discontent for Sir John A. Laurier, Mackenzie King and St. Laurent all came on the scene when temperatures were low and curling and ice hockey were in flower. So, by the way, did Lester Pearson.

At this point I decided to try some other top realms. Here also I either thought of the wrong people or the zoology professor forgot to look in Who's Who. I find that Vincent Massey wasn't a summer babe. Neither was UBC's Norman MacKenzie, who has degrees enough to start a private university of his own. In this same winter group, take note, there is to be added the lieutenant-governor, the Hon. Frank Ross. And, dipping farther back, Chopin. My ego sagged considerably by this time.

I got a lift, temporarily at least, when I found that Sir Ernest MacMillan was a summer child, but after that the list grew gloomier and gloomier for my purpose.

My mind turned to military blokes and there was Hitler. We could leave him out of it but history won't and anyway he had brains, even if misdirected ones. But here's a quartette we can't sneeze at, although they do my search no good—Montgomery, Alexander, Eisenhower and Crerar. None of them is of my birthday vintage.

True enough I found that Alan Brooke's advent eschewed the winter but he's in such hot water these days I can't parade him too much.

As a matter of fact I quit my search thereafter; anyway, I didn't have any more time. My ego was nearly back to where it belonged before the professor of zoology spoke, and I didn't want to lower it further. Enough is enough.

Gerald Waring

Reports from Ottawa

LITTLE more than a year ago, when Canada's air defence planning was based on the Avro Arrow supersonic interceptor armed with Sparrow II air-to-air missiles, it seemed only common sense that the missiles should have atomic warheads.

The Arrow-Sparrow program was junked before A-heads became a real issue. In its place the government has undertaken to establish two half-squadrons of Bomarc ground-to-air missiles to defend central Canada, and is tacitly relying on the U.S. Air Force to defend the rest of the country.

Now, it is one thing for the RCAF to arm its Canadian-made interceptors with Canadian-made missiles equipped with atomic warheads purchased from the U.S.

It is another thing for the U.S. to store American-owned atomic weapons in Canada, for the equipment of USAF interceptors operating from Canadian bases, and for use by Canadian missilemen manning Bomarc when, and only when, USAF officers stationed at these RCAF Bomarc stations give their permission.

In the former situation, the basics of defence would have been the same as they have been since the withdrawal of the last Imperial garrison troops—the defence of Canada by Canadians with weapons under Canadian ownership and control.

In the new situation, nobody should be deluded by Defence Minister Peakes' remarks about "joint control" of American atomic weapons stockpiled in Canada. The control may well be joint—on paper. But effective control is bound to rest with the USAF officers at the Bomarc bases. American law requires that the U.S. armed forces retain ownership and control of American atomic weapons stored in allied countries, and the law has not been changed to make an exception of Canada.

This situation is almost the final dotting and t-crossing of Canada's status as a satellite of the U.S. The U.S. already has air bases in Canada and the use of Canadian facilities for aerial defence and aerial retaliation. It has radar installations in Canada and, if not absolutely untrammelled, then at least untrammelled use of Canadian land, sea and air. It has effective control through NORAD of Canadian air defences, and through SACLANT of Canadian naval defences. And, under the atomic agreement reached at Camp David, the U.S. will hold under lock and key the most effective means of defence against supersonic atom bombers that the RCAF will possess.

A strong argument can be made that the cold war, geography and other circumstances made much of this inevitable. But I question whether the government had to bow to American insistence that the U.S. retain ownership and control of atomic warheads for the Bomarc. The RCAF will man to defend central Canada and the northern air approaches to targets in the eastern U.S.

Gen. de Gaulle decided under similar circumstances that U.S. control was incompatible with French national pride, dignity and sovereignty. He stood up to the U.S. and said "no!" By virtue of geography Canada is in a stronger bargaining position than was France. There has been no indication that Ottawa rebelled against the U.S. terms.

But it is in the political and moral rather than the military sense that Canada is chiefly weakened by the atomic concession. In world councils, and in the uncommitted capitals, Canada's voice will still be heard, but its timbre will be thinner.

Public Relations Culture

(From the London Times)

A TEACHER of English literature has acquired international notoriety as the main agent of an intellectual fraud in which large sums of money were involved. It happened in America, where rewards in any case often seem to the prejudiced foreign view to be incommensurate with the effort involved. Mr. Charles van Doren, who has admitted to knowing in advance the questions of the $64,000 Question Quiz Show, and even to rehearsing his moments of anguished hesitancy before answering them, is the victim of a confusion of rectly, is, one cannot help feeling, as values inherent in American life as he is of his own cupidity.

Sour Note on Goodwill Trip

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

A SOUR note must be raised amid the chorus of hurrahs surrounding President Eisenhower's "goodwill" trip to 11 nations scattered about the globe.

No doubt the general response here has been "golly, that's swell!" Most of the outer world seems to approve, too—but most of the outer world is not familiar with the institution of the American Presidency and the curious limitations that go with its vast powers.

In plain fact, there are dangers in this extraordinary journey. More responsible people here than might be supposed are fully aware of it. They do not speak out for fear of being called pessimists or, maybe, "opposed to peace."

Though every American wants it to go off beautifully, the public is entitled to know the serious objections to this kind of breathless, jet-airliner diplomacy. They are several.

1. The President is breaking with the spirit and practice of a century and three-quarters. This practice has been that the Presidency, the heart and mind of the whole American government, is not wisely "put on the road." It has been felt that such perambulations would lessen the dignity of the office and thus decrease its unique influence.

All previous Presidents who have gone abroad have gone for specific, clearly definable reasons. Usually they have gone only either in wartime for Allied talks or in early postwar periods for urgent Allied peace conferences.

It is true that "the world has changed." But it does not automatically follow that the carefully reserved posture so long maintained for the office should now be cast aside for what is vaguely called "goodwill."

2. Once a President visits one country he will be under unbearable pressure to visit more and more countries. (Already, two stops have had to be added in a single day's time, to Mr. Eisenhower's schedule—Spain and Tunisia.) It is quite as easy to promote illwill as goodwill when country X is honored and country Y is snubbed.

A case can be made for Presidential visits to great powers, like those recently to Western Europe, for perfectly plain Allied objectives. It is not easy, however, to make any non-sentimental case for calls on little countries simply because they would like to be called on.

3. Any President's reel—and irreplaceable—place is Washington. This is true under the Constitution and it is true as a practical matter. The shop simply will not run as well while the boss is away! If it would, there would be less reason to have a boss.

4. Such crowded itineraries as President Eisenhower's—11 countries in 19 days—are bound to be taxing. This, surely, is true of a President who, at 69, is happily in excellent health now but has twice been gravely ill in office.

5. Even though formal diplomatic "negotiations" are no part of the President's purpose, certain "negotiations" will surely take place all the same. For example, foreign dispatches already show Mr. Eisenhower will be expected to mix himself into India's frontier troubles with Red China. One of the main reasons why our tradition has kept the office of the Presidency out of such matters is this:

A President calling on another head of state as his personal guest is unlikely, in human nature, to be able to take quite the no-nonsense line of two diplomats meeting strictly as professional negotiators. When you go to a man's home for the weekend he can make it far harder for you to say no to his proposals than would be the case if your agent met his agent in a business office and without social obligations on either side.

Is Driving Too Easy?

(From The Trentonian)

IS modern driving too easy? Some people think it is. It is thought by some safety experts to be a contributing factor in accidents. Radio playing lulling music. Seats are soft as down. There is no clutch, and thus no gear shift. Everything works at the flick of a button. Even the steering is easy. Highways are wider and better.

Thus there is little to keep a driver alert. Once he had to grip the wheel, and exert some real pressure to turn it. His brakes were mechanical, and needed some muscles to work them. Windows worked by hand. Even windshield wipers were hand-operated. He had to change gears.

Now it is all automatic. The tendency is to relax and thus the attention and alertness needed for full control of a car, and instant response in emergency, are lacking.

Nothing can be done to put the clock back, nor should we want it. But there is an uncomfortable amount of truth in this: This it is necessary for every driver to make a real effort to stay alert, for his own sake, and that of everybody else on the road.

Letters to the Editor

Rate-Fixing

We were very interested in the reports of a mainland trucking firm's licence being suspended for charging rates below those fixed by the Public Utilities Commission.

We have always been under the impression that fixing of rates by any body of people, public or private, other than maximum rates was prohibited under federal statute, i.e., the Combines Investigation Act.

Further, we have always been led to believe that one of the fundamental tenets of Social Credit government policy was vigilance and constant opposition in respect to monopolistic practices in any form. Have they been aware of this situation?

We feel that the PUC has no legal or moral right to specify minimum charges for any public service. The totalitarian nature of the commission's actions in the aforementioned case, in past cases, and in possible future cases should be brought to a full halt forthwith. Large trucking firms may feel the need for special assistance in covering their larger general overhead costs, but the public should be provided with protection from being "held up" by these firms with PUC policies.

The PUC may endeavor to justify their actions on the grounds that public carriers must be protected from competition by firms using "below standard" equipment. They are perfectly justified in enforcing minimum standards of equipment maintenance but definitely should not be influenced by "high cost" trucking firm operators to use "standards" as a lever to eliminate legitimate competition on a rate basis. If a trucking firm charging "below the maximum" rates can operate successfully at these lower rates, and conform to the required equipment standards, the PUC has no moral or legal right to interfere.

Spider and Fly

I have been rather astonished at the views expressed by democratic persons on their ideas for disarmament and so forth. Can any sane person accept the word of a Communist country to do as we do? They are encroaching on all the small nations whilst they talk of world peace and disarmament to us. Poland, Hungary, Tibet and other small countries deprived of their religion, liberty and freedom, whilst democracy stands back bewitched and bewildered.

Now we seek to lay down our defence of Christian democracy, and bargain with these infidels and racketeers about world peace and disarmament. With this slavish attitude democracy will disappear through disloyalty to its ideals. A picture of the spider and the fly.

Favorite Hymns

Being a visitor to Langford, I enjoyed reading the Colonist, especially the magazine section, where I enjoy the historical parts; but among my most looked for page while here, is the hymns and their stories by Gertrude Armstrong.

What a lift it gives one, this spiritual insight into the past and such inspiring stories in these days of unrest and strife. I feel better myself to have read these childhood hymns and know that they are not forgotten. After reading them I send the papers to a hospital in England where they are much appreciated. Please keep up the good work.

Belongs to Russia

Since the disgusting scandal involving Belleville, Ont. and their hockey team has been made public, and since the evidence shows the players were professional and therefore not eligible to take part in the world amateur championship, then surely for the honor of Canada the championship must be awarded to Russia. No self-respecting Canadian with any idea of sportsmanship can hold up his head in the rest of the world if Belleville continues to hang-on to this unfairly-won championship.

One Man's Dictum

The premier's announcement that a new provincial museum is in the future should be challenged by some of our more prominent citizens of British Columbia.

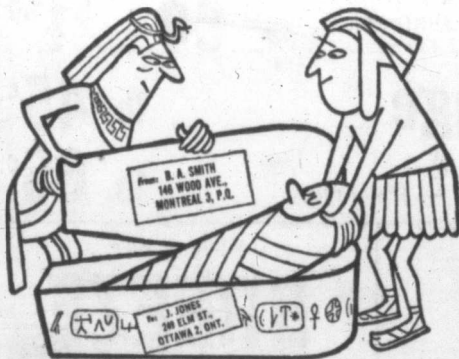

Is one man's dictum to over-ride the wishes of a large number of the intelligent public?

The five per cent sales tax has taken more millions of dollars out of the public pocket than any other form of taxation by all other provincial governments, and undoubtedly this is the time to expand the facilities of our museum, provincial library and the archives.

Have we a cabinet where these matters are discussed, without fear or favor, or does one man control the destinies of our province?

Maybe these questions are naive, but I am sure many people would like to know the answers.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Chinese fairy tales have a strange, bittersweet flavor and unexpected plot twists. Here, for instance, is the story of "The Buried Treasure."

Old Man Li was sick and expected to die, so he called his two sons and divided his fortune between them. He gave the older one four-fifths of his estate. Then he turned to his younger son, Yueh-Sheng, and said, "You're going to get only one-fifth of what I have. It's not that I love you less than your brother, but I have a treasure that I buried in a secret place and when you are alone I'll tell you where it is."

A few days later Yueh-Sheng went to his father alone and asked about the treasure. But the old man got angry and said, "You're only 20 years old and don't know anything about the trials of life. If I give you the money now, you'd spend it all right away. Go away; don't expect any money from me until you've drunk the cup of bitterness to its dregs."

That was the last time Yueh-Sheng talked to his father about the matter. Soon afterwards the old man died.

The older brother was something of a miser and didn't even bother to pay for a decent funeral. So Yueh-Sheng paid for it, and it cost him a lot of money.

Reduced to Poverty

He didn't mind, though. He was a spendthrift anyway and gave no thought to saving money. He had a pretty young wife and they had parties at their house all the time. Often his wife had to get three or four meals a day ready for guests. Everybody got into the habit of sponging on Yueh-Sheng and it wasn't long before he'd spent all his inheritance and was reduced to poverty.

Naturally he went to his older brother for help. The older brother didn't turn him down (as he would have in one of our own fairy tales) but was perfectly willing to help. Unfortunately, however, he soon died and Yueh-Sheng was left without anyone else to fall back on.

For a while, he and his wife managed to get along, borrowing and scrimping, but finally they had to sell their land and were left completely destitute. Then Yueh-Sheng's oldest son died, and not much later, his wife died. He was left almost alone in the world.

Some time passed and Yueh-Sheng married again. His second wife was a sheep-dealer's widow with some money of her own, who was very strict with him and didn't let him waste any time or money with his friends.

One night he had a dream. His father appeared to him and said, "My son, you have drained the cup of bitterness to the dregs. Now you shall have the money. I'll bring it to you."

The next day, as he was laying the foundations of a wall, Yueh-Sheng dug up his father's buried treasure. And he remembered his father's words, "When you are alone"—more than half of those about him at that time were gone.

Canada May Increase Radiation Monitoring

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is likely to step up its program of radiation monitoring, partly as a result of the United Nations global study.

The UN study will mean greater participation of Canadian scientists in the work of keeping tabs on the levels of radiation that may affect human health.

But the army is also understood to be making plans for a system of monitoring stations. As one of the prime movers of a UN resolution Tuesday calling for international study of atomic radiation, Canada may play a part in rounding up the information supplied by radiation studies undertaken by other countries.

Canada already keeps close check on the radiation levels of strontium-90 through tests for radiation in milk powder at 15 points across the country.

The army envisages something like 2,000 monitoring stations in its system, integrated with United States radiation monitoring systems and linked with a weather-radiation forecast designed to predict the probable daily pattern of radioactive fallout from a nuclear explosion in Canada.

Lolita Author Stands Out As Most Exciting New Find

Reviewed by PERCY ROWE

If I had to pick today's most exciting new "young" writer I should choose Mr. Nabokov.

I say young advisedly because his works in English have only been available for a year or so.

But he isn't young. Balding, middle-aged, until his recent resignation a professor at Cornell, a poor TV personality, an awful after-dinner speaker, Nabokov doesn't fit the formula necessary to success for all the "one-shot novelists" of today.

INDIVIDUAL STYLE

Instead, he is a writer with a capital W; a novelist, apparently, with a fluid, individual style in Russian and German, and now a master of the English language.

A man who makes words sing.

I have read three of Nabokov's books in the past year. Lolita was nearly a masterpiece.

Nabokov's Dozen was a collection of brilliant short stories.

And now Invitation to a Beheading, which, I believe, may become a classic.

This doesn't mean that it can be easily understood. But it is wonderful to read.

For Mr. Nabokov defies all rules. There is no plot—there is grammatical invention, there are paragraphs which are pages long. But he is the sure adventurer, wielding his pen like a paintbrush, producing a wildly original, yet at the same time compactly disciplined, book.

I hardly dare call it a novel.

PITIFUL, INSANE

It is a description of the last weeks of a man, imprisoned in a mythical dictatorship, as he awaits execution. The description is phantasmagoric, surrealistic, satirical, pitiful, and insane. As mad, that is to say, as 1984, as biting as Penguin Island, as imaginative as Candide.

Poe, Joyce, Bunyan, Orwell, Voltaire... there are streaks of all of them in Nabokov. But that is only another way of saying he is a learned man, or—to be more honest—an admittance that we can't classify him.

No Combine 'Unless Public Hurt'

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in a brief made public yesterday, recommends that public interest be the criterion in any legislation regarding combines or the field of business operation.

The brief was submitted to Justice Minister Fulton. The minister invited the chamber's views with respect to a bill to amend the Combines Investigation Act and the Criminal Code.

The bill was withdrawn at the last parliamentary session. The chamber said Mr. Fulton has indicated legislation will be reintroduced at the next session.

Parking Fine Quashed

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — The Supreme Court of Alberta Tuesday upheld an appeal against a parking ticket conviction on the grounds the city's parking bylaw failed to properly locate the parking meters.

Mr. Justice Peter Gieschuk ordered the city to refund a $3 fine and court costs to lawyer John Robinson who appealed his conviction on the grounds the city's parking bylaw is "ultra vires and not in effect."

City solicitor W. J. C. Kirby did not contest the appeal. The city is expected to take steps to revise its bylaw.

Mr. Robinson said he decided to appeal his conviction after he discovered the bylaw failed to properly designate the location of the meters.

North's Potential Vast as Its Area

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, (CP) — The scientific facts known about undeveloped northern British Columbia are frighteningly few but from the knowledge that is available its potential may be as great as its area is vast, the B.C. natural resources conference was told Wednesday.

J. Lewis Robinson, head of the geology department of the University of B.C., said that in the undeveloped B.C. north scientific data on geology, soils, water, weather, fish and fur is sketchy at best.

But H. M. Pogue, forester in charge of forest surveys and inventory division of the B.C. Forest Service, said timber resources known to exist in the area offer "a great future for the development of pulp and paper, lumber and possibly particulate-board industries."

Guard's Murder Puzzles Children

'I'll Need a New Dad'

PORT MOODY, B.C. (CP) —Gene, 5, and Lloyd, 4, the bewildered sons of a dead prison guard, spent Tuesday in their pyjamas.

Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Chevalier, an elderly couple here, had no clothes to fit the boys. Before Tuesday morning they had never met.

Harold Cordini, the boys' father, was found dead in the kitchen of his home late Monday. His arm was nearly ripped off by an expanding-type bullet from a heavy rifle.

When police arrived, the boys were beside their father's body.

The connection between Gene, Lloyd and the Chevaliers is remote. They are parents of the mother of a friend of the baby-sitter in the Cordoni home.

RCMP said arrangements would be made for the children "later." Child welfare officials said they hadn't been asked in. The children's mother, estranged from her husband for the last three weeks, hasn't called.

Young Gene thought his father had been hurt by fire-crackers.

Bernice Proctor, 17, of White Rock, B.C., a baby-sitter at the Cordoni home for the last two weeks, wrapped the children in blankets and they ended up with the Chevaliers.

Garth Robert Allison, 30, of Port Coquitlam, was charged Tuesday with murder in connection with the guard's death. He was remanded without plea until Nov. 26.

Sitting on the floor in their pyjamas Tuesday, Gene and Lloyd didn't seem to understand.

Gene, playing with a toy gun, said his father was dead but would be home soon.

Lloyd said nothing.

Then Gene looked at the strange faces and seemed to realize.

Courageous Policeman Nabs Thug

ARLINGTON, Ore. (AP)—State policeman Kenneth Green lunged past two pistols, ignored the leg wound he received and brought about the capture Tuesday of a highway desperado who had boasted of killing a man.

John Broderson, 33, Ocean-side, Calif., began firing wildly when Green lunged at him. One bullet wounded Green in the thigh.

Green made his lunge as his car neared a roadblock on the highway near here, and other officers closed in to complete the capture of Broderson on the seat beside Green.

Broderson earlier had disarmed Green and forced Green to drive him east after boasting of killing a man at Camas, Wash. A body was found there.

West's Weak Policy Runs Risk Of Red Domination—Acheson

DEAN ACHESON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former secretary of state Dean Acheson said yesterday the free world is risking world communist domination by following a policy of weakness in its relations with Russia.

He told the fifth annual conference of NATO parliamentarians that many western nations seem to be accepting at face value Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's assurances that Russia wants a relaxation of tensions.

Without mentioning President Eisenhower by name, Acheson also chided the president and other allied leaders for their willingness to negotiate with Khrushchev over the touchy Berlin issue at a summit conference.

Another speaker, Adm. Jeraul Wright, NATO Atlantic fleet commander, said Soviet missile-firing submarines will pose a significant threat to the allied nations within a year.

Wright also said Soviet submarines "are showing an increased interest in the east coast of North America." He did not elaborate.

Executives of Big Business To See North for Themselves

A side trip to Victoria will be included for 700 delegates to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association convention, scheduled to be held in Vancouver in June, 1961.

Association officials met with Attorney-General Bonner yesterday and discussed plans for a Pacific Great Eastern Railway trip for the delegates.

Mr. Bonner suggested the group take a couple of days off to go north on the railway from Prince George to Taylor Flats, so the big business representatives can see B.C.'s northland development first hand.

Association president W. H. Evans told the Colonist the association members are interested in the Wenner-Gren plans for the Rocky Mountain Trench.

"The power potential is simply staggering," he said. He said that manufacturers must have adequate low-cost power and for that reason eastern firms will have a hard look at British Columbia, but he pointed out the labor situation in B.C. "is difficult."

O. R. Olson, chairman of the B.C. division, said the average wage in the manufacturing industry here is $2.09 an hour compared with $1.81 in Ontario.

B.C. Energy Board Meets on Dec. 15

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier Bennett said Tuesday the British Columbia Energy Board will hold its first meeting Dec. 15 when members will discuss with the government a "wide range of power problems."

In an interview here he was commenting on the board that was formed in August on the recommendation of the Shrum Royal Commission investigating the province's energy resources and the B.C. Power Commission.

Socreds Seek Essays On Monetary System

"Staggering!" says Mrs. Collingwood

After seeing the new, Christmas issue of McCall's, Mrs. Charles Collingwood had this to say: "The entire magazine is absolutely spectacular—just staggering. Fascinating holiday hairdos... brilliant but inexpensive gift ideas. I loved them all."

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said last night the B.C. Social Credit League has offered an annual prize of $500 for the best essay on "The monetary system of Canada, with recommendations to secure the better distribution of goods and services under a free enterprise economy."

The competition will be open to UBC students. The essays should be from 2,500 to 7,500 words in length.

Smith Challenged

Ald. Arthur Dowell has challenged mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith to substantiate implications about city property dealings "that reflect on the integrity of every member of city council, particularly me as chairman of land committee."

If Mr. Smith "or any other citizen will bring forward specific allegations regarding any dealings in my nine-year tenure of office, I will move that council order an investigation," Ald. Dowell said yesterday.

He confirmed that earlier this week he had sent a letter to Mr. Smith calling on him to appear at the council meeting Nov. 26 to restate remarks he made at a Victoria Civic Voters' Association meeting "and to bring with you any proofs that you have to substantiate them. You are more than welcome to bring your legal counsel and other citizens who can substantiate your remarks."

Mr. Smith said at the meeting that, if elected, he would call for an inquiry under oath concerning the firehall site, the View Street mall project and other property dealings.

He said yesterday he would "reply in all good time" to Ald. Dowell's letter.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Somewhat disappointing early-season attendance shows how much convincing was needed for Victoria's somewhat disillusioned hockey fans. There have been signs of late that the Cougars are catching on and need only stay in the top four to play to something resembling old-time crowds, but support is coming slower than it should. On view at Memorial Arena this season is the best calibre of hockey yet produced by the Western Hockey League.

It may not be more interesting than it was in that memorable season that the one and only Roger Leger led the Cougars to their one and only WHL championship but it is better hockey. There are more good players and the WHL has achieved a balance that it has seldom, if ever, achieved before. There are indications that Vancouver Canucks may be a shade better than the rest and that Spokane Comets are a touch below the other clubs but the difference is slight and the other five clubs are about as evenly matched as it is possible to be.

Game scores certainly support that claim. Of the first 65 games, 24 have been decided by one goal, three have ended in ties and the final margin was two goals in 20 games. A few different bounces here and there would almost have reversed the present standings. And things seem to be getting even tighter. Of the last 16 games, nine were won by one goal and six by two goals.

Adding to the fine hockey entertainment is more sensible refereeing. The big difference this season is a bit more leniency in body-checking and play is more on the robust side than it has been in the WHL in other seasons.

Evidence of the improved hockey has been there for all to see in the 10 games played at Memorial Arena. Almost without exception play has been wide open but exceptional goalling and good checking has kept scoring down to an average of 5.4 goals a game. And the closeness of competition is reflected in figures which show that the Cougars have only outscored their opponents, 32-22, although showing a 7-2-1 record at home.

All of this has set up what should be a real scramble for the four playoff spots, with the big scramble likely to be between the Cougars, Edmonton Flyers, Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Warriors for two of the four post-season berths. It's still early in the season but this observer is inclined to concede that the Canucks and Seattle Totems will be in the first four when it's all over and that the Comets are likely to be where they are right now—dead (almost) last.

Canucks have put together what may well be the best club the WHL has ever had.

In Hank Bassen, they have as fine a goalkeeper as there is outside of the National Hockey League and looking after his interests are five big, dour and capable defencemen. But as impressive as Canucks are on defence, they are at least as potent up front.

There they have nine forwards whose best WHL seasons total 287 goals. All but one, who had 22 in his best season, have scored at least as many as 28 goals in one schedule and six have gone past 30 at least once. Only Colin Kilburn and Ed Dorohoy can be classed as real veterans, and neither has shown any signs of slowing up. The Canucks will have to beat themselves this season and, while there is some hope that there are enough explosive personalities around to bring this about, it should be remembered that differences when winning are a lot different than differences when losing.

Behind the Canucks one has to rate the Totems, the often under-rated defending champions who jelled near the end of last season to prove much the best. They are equally as good this season despite the loss of Val Fonteyne with sophomore Marc Boileau and an improved Bill MacFarland making it up. The Totems have balance—a defence which doesn't always get the credit it deserves and Guyle Fielder to lead the offence.

If the above gives the impression that I believe the Cougars are in tough company it is the impression intended. They are, but Hal Laycoe's club belongs in it.

There has been an individual disappointment or two but the Cougars are a sound club playing fine team hockey. Their forwards are looking after their checking chores, the club is the best in the WHL at penalty-killing and has developed a potent power play which has already accounted for 15 goals.

Biggest item on the debit side as regards the Cougars is that they have yet to show hoped-for scoring punch. Only the lowly Comets have averaged fewer goals per game and until they come up with a more explosive attack, the Cougars will have to stay close to win.

On the other hand, the club has spirit and desire to go along with its defensive abilities, and it figures to improve. The Cougars could finish anywhere between second, and sixth places with the guess here that it will either be third or a bang-up fourth. I think they will show more consistency than either Calgary or Winnipeg, who should both finish ahead of Spokane.

So, it says here, the WHL race will shape up with Vancouver proving the best, Edmonton's young Flyers challenging Seattle for the runner-up spot with the Cougars hanging close enough to beat out either or both. And close behind, and certainly not out of it, will be Calgary and Winnipeg.

And while the Comets appear to be out of it, any club which takes them lightly may find that thinking the difference between making or missing the playoffs.

Gilmour Scores 21

Oak Bay Easy Winner In Russell Cup Opener

Captain Doug Gilmour's talented kicking accounted for 21 points Wednesday at Camarvon Park as Oak Bay High School trounced Victoria High 33-0 and became a heavy favorite to retain the city senior high school rugby championship.

Oak Bay is expected to win the Howard Russell Cup for a second consecutive season when the second game of the best-of-three series is played Wednesday at Victoria High. Oak Bay has won the cup during 12 of the last 16 years, and two other finals were ties.

Gilmour paved the way for Wednesday's win by kicking five penalty goals. He also made good on three of four convert attempts.

Following Gilmour was wing John Youson who scored two tries. Tony Elise and Gary Wilcox scored a try apiece, the latter electrifying the crowd with a 75-yard gallop for three points.

The lighter Victoria High team impressed only in the first half in holding Oak Bay

Spokane Gets Break; NBC Fights to Die?

BOB ELLIOTT

Second Shoot

Second trap and rifle shoot of the season has been scheduled by the Jordan River Athletic and Community Association, and will be held at Jordan River Sunday, beginning at 1 p.m.

Spokane Comets, who led the Western Hockey League in attendance last year, got some financial help from the city of Spokane yesterday to counteract slumping interest this season.

Roy McBride, manager of the Comets, now deep in the WHL cellar, and city officials announced that a $400,000 minimum charge for use of the Coliseum is being waived.

Comets, who had asked for rent relief, instead will pay 12 1/2 per cent of the gate to the city for Coliseum rental. Joseph Drumheller, Coliseum board chairman, said: "This means that if the attendance picks up at hockey games the city will make just as much money as it would under the old contract. There has been a slack in attendance. We are worried about it. We want to give the hockey team whatever relief is possible."

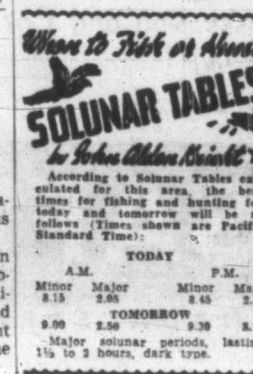

McBride said: "We are not crying and not desperate, but this action certainly bolsters our confidence. We'll promote hard and play hard and I know things will improve."

The National Broadcasting Company will try to cancel its three-year contract to televise the Friday night fights, says New York sports columnist Jimmy Cannon. NBC will make the attempt, he said, at a meeting next Monday with the Gillette Razor Co., fight program sponsors. Network officials denied knowledge of the report and pointed out the contract is less than a year old.

Cannon wrote: "The diminishing audience, disgusted by revelations of gangster-controlled fights promoted by the defunct International Boxing

Pike's Patsies One Point Away from NHL Cellar

New York Rangers are proving that a new coach wasn't what they needed and 34-year-old Johnny Bower is proving that To-over Detroit Red Wings made possible by the great play of Bower, challenging Montreal's Jacques Plante for the Vezina Trophy.

THEY'RE RUINOUS
Rangers, who have been ruining almost everything this season except their opposition, ruined the NHL coaching debut of Alf Pike, who may already be wondering if it wouldn't have been better to have stayed on as boss man of the Winnipeg Warriors.

And no wonder. The Rangers may have set a record last night as they managed only nine shots on Chicago goalkeeper Glen Hall and played the first period without once getting a shot on target.

Somehow, they managed the first goal of the game, early in the second period, but the Hawks scored three before Rangers got their second and five before Pike's patsies got No. 3.

Since Watson left, the Rangers have won once, tied once and lost twice. They "celebrated" Watson's departure by scoring a 6-3 win over Boston with general manager Muzz Patrick calling the shots from the bench Nov. 11.

Pike was an observer with Patrick still doing the coaching as the Rangers got themselves blanked 4-0 by Detroit and scrambled to a 2-2 tie with Toronto in their next two games. There, Patrick left—just in time. The Hawks have won only three times this season and last night's victory was their second over the Rangers.

Rookie Bill Hay from Calgary Stampeders and Bobby Hull, Chicago's brightest star, led the Hawks with two goals apiece. Red Sullivan did what he could for Rangers with two of their goals.

Bower, as he has been all season, was making the "big" saves last night in a game in which the shots on goal—35 for Toronto and 27 for Detroit—didn't tell the true story.

He was particularly brilliant in the third period, when he stopped 12 of 13 shots and kept the Wings from at least a tie.

Bower has been beaten only 38 times in 17 games this season to make up for a Toronto attack which has produced only 43 goals.

Bower's per-game average of 2.24 is second only to the 1.90 average owned by Plante.

back from Winnipeg and a 4-3 loss to Calgary.

Totems opened with a 5-4 win over Edmonton, edged Calgary 6-5 in overtime, lost to Winnipeg but rebounded to down the Warriors, 4-2, then lost to Calgary before winding up the trip.

Strengthened by the addition of defenceman Pete Goegan and forward Forbes Kennedy from the parent Detroit club, Edmonton fired three second period goals after falling behind, 2-0, in the opening frame.

Fillion, on a power-play, and Pat Ginnell, finishing off a fine breakaway play with Bill Davidson, had put Seattle ahead early.

Flyers cut Seattle's lead to 4-3 entering the third period before Bill MacFarland stick-handled through the Edmonton defence and pulled Riggins to one side before hitting a gaping opening.

MacFarland's goal at 5:27 was erased by Gordon Strate's 15-foot backhand shot two and a half minutes later but Flyers couldn't get any closer even though coach Bud Poile yanked Riggins in the final minute of play.

Sophomore forward Gordon Labossiere was in the penalty box both times when Seattle, leading the league in odd-man goals, scored. Both goals were scored by veteran Rudy Filion, who moved into a tie for the WHL individual scoring lead by gaining three goals and an assist.

SECOND STRAIGHT

An 11-year WHL player, Filion scored once in the first period and added two more in the second. His four points moved him into a tie with mate Marc Boileau, who picked up an assist.

Filion has 11 goals and 18 assists for 29 points while Boileau has 15 goals and 14 assists. Filion leads in assists while Boileau heads the league in goals.

Brilliant 66 For Canada

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP) — Vancouver's Stan Leonard fired a brilliant 66 today to lift Canada into a second-place tie in the Canada Cup team matches with a two-round total of 283.

Leonard's partner, Al Balding of Markham, Ont., shot a 73 today to give his 74 of Wednesday. Leonard had a first-round score of 70.

Australia still is in the lead.

Black Ties, Cocktails

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Zora Folley, the No. 2 contender for the world heavyweight boxing championship, toyed with out-classed Alonzo Johnson for a unanimous decision Wednesday night.

The scumbly bout was televised from the strange surroundings of a swanky motel patio, with tuxedo and evening gown-clad fans sipping champagne cocktails.

CHARITY SHOW
Folley weighed 197 1/2 and Johnson 189 1/2 for the fight, staged on a charity dinner-dance program.

Folley, using his right hand

It was the second straight setback for Johnson, a promising youngster from Pittsburgh who won 13 in a row before being outpointed by Alex Miteff.

TWO CLASSES
Promoters had set two ticket prices and two modes of dress.

For those in the $25-a-seat section; black ties, tux and evening gowns were required. After the fight, a 10-piece orchestra took over and customers dined and danced under the stars.

Some first-floor rooms at the motel went at $100 a night so fans could relax and enjoy the bout.

It was a come-as-you-are affair for those in the $5.50 temporary bleacher seats, where fans were entitled to 10 rounds of boxing, or less, with no fancy frills.

Pre-fight promotion was as bizarre as the setting surrounding the fight.

Seattle's only two losses on the Prairies were a 1-0 setback from Winnipeg and a 4-3 loss to Calgary.

Totems opened with a 5-4 win over Edmonton, edged Calgary 6-5 in overtime, lost to Winnipeg but rebounded to down the Warriors, 4-2, then lost to Calgary before winding up the trip.

Strengthened by the addition of defenceman Pete Goegan and forward Forbes Kennedy from the parent Detroit club, Edmonton fired three second period goals after falling behind, 2-0, in the opening frame.

Fillion, on a power-play, and Pat Ginnell, finishing off a fine breakaway play with Bill Davidson, had put Seattle ahead early.

Flyers cut Seattle's lead to 4-3 entering the third period before Bill MacFarland stick-handled through the Edmonton defence and pulled Riggins to one side before hitting a gaping opening.

MacFarland's goal at 5:27 was erased by Gordon Strate's 15-foot backhand shot two and a half minutes later but Flyers couldn't get any closer even though coach Bud Poile yanked Riggins in the final minute of play.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

Not long ago in New York, there was a luncheon packed with old fight champions celebrating publication of "Third Man in the Ring," the autobiography of Ruby Goldstein by Frank Graham. Ruby Goldstein was a fighter and now he is a referee. He was a good fighter but he is a better referee, for he never won a championship or even fought for a title, whereas it is unlikely anybody would quarrel with the statement that he is the top referee in America today.

There have been many books about boxing and boxing, works of fiction and non-fiction and some that are presented as the latter and more nearly resemble the former. There have not been many like this one. Many able writers have tried to capture the flavor and color and reality of the curious little world that is pugilism, and have failed dismally, producing instead a grotesque caricature or a lifeless gallery of stock characters as hackneyed as the good guys and baddies of a television Western.

A Little World Apart

Perhaps the reason for this is that the little world of pugilism is in fact a world apart, with its own standards and its own philosophy. It is not a world that produces writers from its own ranks, and writers who approach it from another environment are, often as not defeated by the language barrier at the very start.

The collaboration that produced "Third Man in the Ring" is a happy exception. The story is told by the one who lived it to one who might have lived it, for like Ruby Goldstein, Frank Graham as a boy dreamed of becoming a prizefighter. He became a sports writer instead, who has followed fights and known the great fighters almost back to the days of Stanley Ketchel, whose training he was taken to watch as a kid.

This is fine reading, and it should be required reading for the politicians and bleeding-hearts and crusaders who get into the headlines every other day by beating their bosoms over the sinister influence of "the underworld" in boxing.

Bullets in His Head

Ruby Goldstein's first manager, and his only father after Ruby was ten, was Hymie Cantor, who taught a "dying-looking kid" out of East Side tenements the skills that won him recognition as the "Jewel of the Ghetto." Before Ruby had his first professional fight, Hymie sold a piece of him to Charlie Rosenhouse, who was found dead in the street soon afterward with two bullets in his head.

"I don't care if he was a gambler," said Hymie, "he was a nice honest man." And in order to return Rosenhouse's investment to his widow, Hymie sold a piece of Ruby to Waxey Gordon, a real underworld guy whose mob ruled the Prohibition liquor racket on the East Side.

The thing is, these guys never touched Ruby. He encountered frustration and he knew despair before he found his niche as a referee and a good-will man for Schenley, but the mobs never had anything to do with that. He was and is untarnished by their brush, and until the politicians and bleeding-hearts and crusaders can realize that this is possible, they can't possibly have any understanding of the strange world of boxing.

'A Taste of Ashes'

"Third Man in the Ring" is a quiet autobiography. "The Taste of Ashes" is not. It couldn't very well be, for it is the story of Bill Stern, the sports announcer, as told to Oscar Fraley.

Bill Stern neither has nor ever sought a reputation as a quiet man. His rich and reedy baritone, maybe the most magnificent speaking voice ever employed by radio, boomed across the airwaves through the 1930s and '40s and into the '50s, hok-ing up football games, painting corn instead of lilies.

By the simple device of substituting fancy for fact, Stern created a half-world of dreams peopled by Olympian creatures whose adventures made the deeds of mortals seem pitifully ordinary and dull. Millions who had never known that sports could be so dramatic hung on his words and, if truth was left crushed on the floor, Bill made $5,000 a week.

It Harmed Nobody

Anybody who respected an honest reporter had to resent this fakery presented in the guise of sports reporting, but Stern defends it with the arguments being presented these days to excuse the rigging of quiz shows—this was entertainment salted to the popular taste and it harmed nobody.

All through the days when Stern was flooding the air with his Muenchhausen malarkey, he was living a story more bizarre than the wildest fictions his imagination contrived. This book tells that true story—how Stern became addicted to narcotics after an automobile accident which cost him a leg in 1935, and was on the "hop" until he cracked up trying to broadcast the Sugar Bowl Game from New Orleans in 1956.

It is a candid and chilling and absorbing tale. It is grist for the Hollywood mills. And it states an argument Bill Stern never before espoused: That truth is stranger than fiction.

Kearns Talks On

Ingo-Archie Bout Summer's Hope

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fight manager Jack Kearns said Wednesday he hopes to set up a title match between world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and light-heavy king Archie Moore in Los Angeles next summer.

And sooner or later, the veteran ring figure said, he favors a fight between Moore and Sugar Ray Robinson in New York.

"But," Kearns added emphatically, "either Johansson or Robinson better get off the dime."

"I have news for them. Archie Moore is on the verge of a new career. Movies. I ain't jokin' and there's a lot of money involved."

Als' Choice

Hanged in effigy twice by Florida State University students for a poor football record this fall, Perry Moss quit yesterday as head coach to take the same position with the Big Four's Montreal Alouettes. Moss, 33, was quarterback with the University of Illinois and Green Bay Packers and has coached for 10 years, this being his first at FSU. His Montreal contract runs "for more than a year."—(AP Photo-fax).

'Silent' Coach Laughs Last

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Two sports editors got humor for humor early this week when they tried to query Florida State football coach Moss on reports he would coach Montreal Alouettes, the job he got yesterday.

Al Padgett of the News and Bodie McCory of the Journal couldn't get Moss to answer his telephone for two days, although they felt sure he was at home.

So, tongue-in-cheek, they telegraphed him: "Best wishes for a speedy recovery. Understand you have lockjaw."

The reply: "I did not receive your telegram. Signed, Perry Moss."

NHL Marksmen Piling Up Behind Boston's Bronco

Bronco Horvath of Boston continues to hold a commanding lead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race but the battle for the runner-up position becomes more involved with each game.

Following a pair of games last night, five players share second place with 20 points each while another is in third spot with 19 and two more hold fourth with 18 points.

Horvath's league-leading 16 goals and 11 assists give him 27 points and a comfortable margin over Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion, Detroit's Gordie Howe, Bruin linemates John Bucyk and Vic Stasiuk and New York's Andy Bathgate.

Only Bathgate gained a point last night, scoring a goal in New York's 5-3 loss to Chicago. All others, with the exception of Howe, were idle.

Geoffrion and Howe have 10 goals and 10 assists, Bucyk and Stasiuk eight goals and 12 assists. Bathgate has four goals and 16 assists, a league high.

Chicago's sophomore sensation Bobby Hull climbed into third place last night, scoring two goals. He now has nine goals and 10 assists.

Jacques Plante of Montreal continues to lead the goaltenders with a 1.94 average in 18 games. Plante, bidding for record fifth straight Vezina Trophy, has yielded 35 goals.

Plante's nearest rival is Terry Sawchuk of Detroit, who is closely followed by ancient Johnny Bower of Toronto.

Carl Brewer of Toronto has the dubious honor of leading the league in penalties with 41 minutes while Jerry Toppazzini of Boston has 34.

Red-Hot Riders Face Trouble

Ottawa Rough Riders have run into a couple of big hurdles in their red-hot drive to the club's first chance at a Grey Cup since 1951.

Two key players, sensational Canadian quarterback Russ

Decisive Big Four football final game will be telecast from Hamilton on Saturday and will be seen in this area on channels 2 and 6, beginning at 10 a.m.

Jackson and import defensive halfback and kicker Gary Schreider, may miss the second game of the two-game, total-point Big Four football final at Hamilton on Saturday.

What's worse, the club has learned that, if it gets by Hamilton, it may be without league-rushing champion Dave Thelen in the Grey Cup game at Toronto Nov. 28.

Rider coach Frank Clair, announcing yesterday that he won't name his quarterback until game time, said he decided on that action because Jackson still is limping from a sprained ankle suffered last Saturday when Riders won 17-5 at home.

Jackson, 22, was the game star, scoring the only two touchdowns as Ottawa took a 12-point lead for Saturday's "crucial."

Schreider, who missed the opener with a bad charley-horse, won't be able to tell until Friday if he can see action. His absence last weekend forced the club's No. 1 kicker, Steve Oneschuk, to work despite a shoulder separation—and Riders still won their 11th in 12 starts.

Thelen returned from a meeting with his draft board in Canton, Ohio, with the news he will have to report Nov. 27, the day before the Grey Cup game, to start the first of his two six-month U.S. army hitch.

The two-hitch plan was worked out so that Thelen could play for Riders next season.

His disappearance for the Grey Cup might take the edge off Winnipeg's loss of quarterback Jim Van Pelt, which forced Bombers to go with 11 imports for the rest of play.

In Hamilton yesterday, Tiger-Cats' coach Jim Trimble made no secret of the fact his club is under orders to get the first touchdown Saturday.

It's a sure bet that Bernie Faloney's long passing will be the main weapon in that drive, so pass offence and defence is taking most of the time in both clubs' practices.

Trimble blames last week's defeat on lack of team play, so "we're also stressing comradeship and co-operation in all of our practice sessions."

Jim Ausley, manager of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has announced the club will leave Monday for Toronto. The WIFU champs turned out for a meeting Wednesday to watch films, ending a three-day lay-off.

Davey West, 31, the wide flanker of Ottawa's offensive team, says he will retire after this year, his 13th in pro football.

In that time, he has seen action with seven of the nine pro clubs and with two ORFU teams. He started in 1947 with Toronto Argos, who went on to win the Grey Cup that fall.

Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union are hoping mad over the fact their Grey Cup ticket allotment has been cut to 500 from the 2,500 in 1957, last time the big game was played in the East.

Pointing out this is the 50th anniversary of the Grey Cup and 25th anniversary of Sarnia's first victory, the team blasted the Canadian Football League for "snubbing" those who have given more to football than "Johnny-come-latelys" doing such an expert job of mismanaging."

George Terlep, former Saskatchewan coach who's now assistant coach at Ottawa, says the Big Four champs are "headed for a lot of trouble" against Winnipeg.

Terlep, who scouted the

Baseball's Big Shuffle Near

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Trading will be brisk between Nov. 21 and Dec. 15, the unprecedented three-week inter-league trading season for major league baseball.

Club owners and general managers—the fellows who do the bartering—have been suspiciously quiet, but don't let that fool you. Several trades already have been completed. Others are on the verge of completion. Only official confirmation is lacking.

The two known completed deals are:

1. Baltimore's Bob Nieman for St. Louis' Gene Green.

2. Boston's Dick Gernert for the Chicago Cubs' Dave Hillman and Rufe Marshall.

A big name-involving trade that has reached the serious discussion stage would send St. Louis' Joe Cunningham to the Chicago White Sox for southpaw Billy Pierce, third baseman Billy Goodman and outfielder Jim Rivera.

In their search for power, the White Sox have an alternate trade hanging fire should a hitch develop in their dealings with the Cardinals. That one involves the Cleveland Indians, and would bring Minnie Miñoso in exchange for third baseman Bubba Phillips and catcher John Romano.

Two long-time favorites — Gil McDougald and Frank Thomas—are being dangled in front of clubs in the rival league.

TWO REJECTS
General manager Gabe Paul of Cincinnati has offered Thomas to Cleveland for Herb Score and to the Yankees for Norm Siebern and Don Larsen. He was rejected by both clubs.

Yankee manager George Weiss is mulling over offers from three clubs in the National League—St. Louis, San Francisco and Milwaukee—for McDougald. He prefers a starting left-handed pitcher.

Washington has offered relief pitcher Truman Clevenger and one of the second-basemen —Reno Bertoia, Ken Aspromonte or Billy Conso— to the Giants for outfielder Felipe Alou.

Baltimore is said to be willing to swap southpaw Billy O'Dell to the Giants for Alou. Detroit is about ready to close a deal with Philadelphia for shortstop Chico Fernandez.

Milwaukee reportedly has offered pitcher Carleton Willey and second baseman Felix Mantilla for Detroit's Frank Roling or Cleveland's Billy Martin.

NOW . . . good news for good drivers!

Defiant Driver Sent to Jail For One Month

Pleading guilty to driving while under suspension on two successive days, a young Victoria motorist was sent to jail for 30 days by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court yesterday.

Withdraw Condition Of Parley

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Nehru has demanded that Communist China withdraw its troops from Indian territory as a basis for top-level talks on the border dispute, informed sources said yesterday.

The sources said the demand was made in Nehru's latest letter to Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai, delivered Monday.

It was reported yesterday that Red incursions across India's borders continue. The Communists were said to have constructed an airstrip on the Aksaichin Plateau in the India state of Kashmir and to have made another probe across the border in the Malikshah region of northern Ladakh.

The Nehru letter was in answer to Chou's Nov. 8 suggestion that the two leaders discuss the dispute following a joint 12.5-mile withdrawal of Chinese and Indian troops from the positions they now occupy.

Chinese Attack Laos Fort

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters)—Anti-government forces have captured the army post of Longhai, five miles from the Chinese Communist border in the northern province of Phongsaly, the Laotian Army announced yesterday.

Brig-Gen. Amkha Sukhavong, deputy army commander, charged yesterday that most of the attackers were Chinese Communists.

Richard Patten, 23, of 1312 Government, pleaded guilty to two separate charges and was sentenced to 10 days in jail on the first and 20 days on the second, consecutively.

Accused, police said, was stopped on Bank Street Monday evening while driving, and said then his licence was at home. Next-morning the officer learned Patten was under suspension.

Tuesday evening a second traffic officer checked Patten when the latter was driving a car on Johnson Street. He was placed under arrest.

Court was also advised that accused had a record of three prior convictions for driving without a driver's licence, and one for driving while under suspension.

Another city driver was fined $50 when he admitted leaving the scene of an accident.

George L. Mawson, 1968 Newton, pleaded guilty to damaging three parked cars while parking his own vehicle in a downtown lot, then driving away. Accused's counsel said Mawson left because he was "scared," instead of remaining to report the accident.

Said Magistrate Ostler: "It's a contemptible thing to back into someone's car, then forward into another, and then scurry from the scene. I hope you are ashamed of yourself." Mawson said he was.

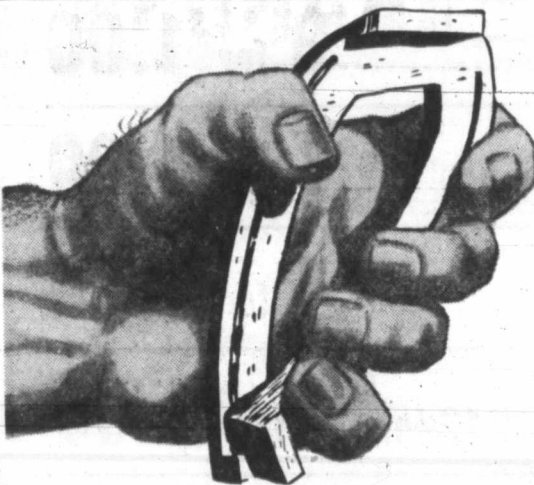

Also in city court John Bertram Currie Hess, no fixed address, was sent to jail for 20 days after pleading guilty to vagrancy. He admitted a long series of convictions on similar offences in cities all across Canada and the United States.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two eccentrics, a 96-year-old woman and a man about 70, were tortured and beaten to death by an intruder who ransacked their home looking for a hoard of money and then set fire to the house before leaving.

Mobile Lamp Post

When British schoolboy, Howard Coleman, 16, rides his bicycle in Southampton, it's easy to see him. He's equipped the vehicle with a battery of lights and other electrical gadgets. It now has six headlights, six rear lights, a braking light, traffic indicator lights, homemade radio, clock and two electric horns. It also gives any prospective thief a harmless shock.

Lumber Giants Clash

MacMillan, Bloedel Made Whipping Boy?

Former attorney-general Gordon Wismer was yesterday accused of setting up MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. as a whipping boy in connection with public hearings regarding the forest management of an area near Squamish.

Mr. Wismer is representing Empire Mills Ltd., which is seeking a tree farm licence in the area.

Claims against Mr. Wismer were made by Neil Hossie, counsel for the MacMillan company, which along with several others is asking the area be set up as a public working circle in which private loggers could compete for the timber rights.

During the hearings, Mr. Wismer has continuously questioned MacMillan & Bloedel's interests in the area.

"It is fair to say the fight is largely between MacMillan & Bloedel and their subsidiaries and Empire Mills," Mr. Wismer said.

"Mr. Wismer has sought to create the impression MacMillan & Bloedel wants the entire area for itself and that if it is made a public working circle, no small operator will be allowed to work in the area," complained Ronald Howard, counsel for Western Forest Management Association, which is representative of a number of small operators.

"The question is who is going to get the tract... MacMillan & Bloedel or the small operators acting as contractors for Empire Mills?" Mr. Wismer maintained.

Mr. Hossie argued that MacMillan & Bloedel feels that public working circles should not be cut down, but should be created so lumber firms can buy on the open market.

"There isn't any issue between MacMillan & Bloedel and Empire Mills, except as to how the area should be managed."

Mr. Gibson, former MLA for Lillooet and long-time critic of the provincial government's forestry policies, said at a Young Liberals' meeting at the University of British Columbia:

"The lumber industry is falling almost completely into the hands of four or five large companies, mostly controlled by foreign capital with head offices in the U.S."

"I am afraid that in market decline, they will keep their plants running in the U.S. and close them down in B.C."

He said if the country is going into amalgamations, "let's invite an expert over, possibly (Soviet premier)

'Industry Falling Into U.S. Hands'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Gordon Gibson, a former Liberal member of the legislature, yesterday criticized tree farm licences, United States companies who have moved into the British Columbia forest industry, and a merger of forestry giants.

Mr. Gibson, former MLA for Lillooet and long-time critic of the provincial government's forestry policies, said at a Young Liberals' meeting at the University of British Columbia:

"The lumber industry is falling almost completely into the hands of four or five large companies, mostly controlled by foreign capital with head offices in the U.S."

B.C. Civil Defence Becoming Shelter-Minded

Touch of Dutch

Jeop Ruyter, of Delft, The Netherlands, wears his native wooden shoes on the job while planting 1,500,000 Dutch bulbs at Sterling Forest Gardens, being created on a 125-acre tract near Tuxedo, N.Y. Jeop and eight others came over to plant the collection for the official opening next spring.

The new civil defence program in British Columbia will place more emphasis on the use of shelters in the event of a nuclear attack, deputy provincial secretary Lawrie Wallace said yesterday.

He said the new concept has been made necessary by the development of the missile as a weapon.

"For those who are caught in the immediate vicinity of a nuclear blast, there is no sure protection, but for the people on the fringe of the blast area or in the path of the fallout, there are good prospects of survival if adequate shelter is available," he said.

"For those living in probable target areas, the only sure hope of survival in the event of a nuclear explosion in that area is still evacuation," he said. "But it is now apparent that disposal will have to be carried out before the threat becomes acute. There is no longer any hope of a successful mass evacuation once an attack is launched."

Mr. Wallace said that with intercontinental ballistic missiles "there is no longer any assurance of advance warning."

He said plans and specifications for proper shelters are now being prepared and these will be available for distribution in the near future.

You've Been Seen in Town, Cherry You'd Better Get Home to the Nest

By JIM TAYLOR

Cherry, come home to your wife and family.

You're a pheasant with responsibilities now, Cherry. You aren't the gay, roving bachelor you were when you ran away the first time, last summer.

Think of your home and family. Think of those three little four-month-old babies. What about your wife, struggling to keep your little nest together by herself?

What's the matter, Cherry, are you henpecked? Is that why you ran away again on Sunday? Or maybe you still have fond memories of that time you flew the coop for four months last summer.

For shame! You're a married man now, the chicks are not for you. Stay faithful to your little wife. Remember what they say about a bird in the hand...

Yesterday, someone saw you skulking furtively down Adanac Street, not far from your home at 1762 Pembroke. Feeling a little repentant, Cherry?

If you plan to come back, you had better make it fast. Right now, wife is ready to take you back, no questions asked. So is your owner, Mrs. Jessie Read.

But Cherry, don't wait too long. If they get mad, you're a dead duck. On Christmas day, you can either be a proud father or a main course.

Hospitals To Chart Crisis Plan

Hospital administrators will map out disaster plans when they attend a civil defence course at the Empress Hotel Nov. 23 to 26.

Some 67 administrators are expected to attend and civil defence co-ordinator Brjg. G. A. McCarter said a follow-up orientation course for senior and administrative nurses will be held here Jan. 18 to 21.

10,000 Delegates

Convention Boom Year Anticipated

More than 10,000 convention delegates from all over North America will pour into Victoria's Empress Hotel next year.

Forecast of a bumper crop of conventioners for the CPR hotel was made yesterday by Charles Moore, assistant manager in charge of conventions, following a 3½-week junket through California, Oregon and Washington.

He booked some conventions for as far in the future as 1964 and said convention business for Victoria is increasing every year.

Victoria, he added, enjoys a high percentage of repeat business from conventioning groups.

District Nurses Lead Province

A Royal Oak girl and a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital came first and second in September Registered Nurses' examinations for the province, it was announced late yesterday.

Valerie A. Squance, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Squance of 5790 Oldfield Road, won first place among 281 who wrote the examinations.

Sister Miriam Rita, a Sister of St. Ann and graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital this year, was second.

Third place was won by Patricia A. Walker of Vancouver, a graduate of St. Paul's Hospital in that city.

(For complete list of Victoria and Vancouver Island nurses who qualified for their RN, see page 6.)

Valerie Squance, who with her family has lived at Royal Oak for 12 years, was born at Warburg, Alta. She attended Royal Oak High School, where she won a scholarship on graduation in 1955, then attended Victoria College for a year before going to University of British Columbia.

She is now in her final year of nurse's training at UBC, taking her practical work at Vancouver General Hospital.

Sister Miriam Rita's family home is in Montreal, where she attended high school. She became a Sister of the Order of St. Ann in Western Canada, and entered nurse's training at St. Joseph's.

Little Boy Dies

Ladysmith Mother Loses Second Son

A six-year-old Ladysmith boy died in Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday, second victim of a two-car crash on the highway five miles south of Nanaimo early Saturday morning.

Jerry McCaig, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick McCaig, Walker Road, Ladysmith, died of injuries sustained in the crash which also claimed the life of his brother Byron, seven, who died within hours of the collision in Nanaimo General Hospital.

Jerry was rushed to Royal Jubilee from the crash scene along with his mother, Mrs. Nancy McCaig, and Earl Kent, six, also of Ladysmith and also badly injured.

Yesterday hospital officials reported Mrs. McCaig in fair condition, Earl Kent in critical condition.

The crash involved a car driven by Earl's mother, Mrs. Mary Jean Kent, and another driven by Kenneth J. Pridham, Nanaimo.

The McCaig and Kent families had gone together on a theatre outing and a short visit to Nanaimo, and were on the way home when the crash occurred.

Million-Name Plea 'Excellent' Scheme

A proposed 1,000,000-signature "petition of right" to the Queen on behalf of Canada's civil servants was termed an "excellent idea" yesterday by a spokesman for Victoria's 3,000 federal workers.

"We think the idea has a lot of merit — we like it very much," said G. K. Sammon, chairman of the civil servants' local joint action committee. "We are going to hold a meeting on this next week and if my committee endorses it we will advise the national joint action committee in Ottawa immediately," Mr. Sammon said.

The petition, which would probably go to Governor-General Vanier rather than the Queen, would ask for release of the secret salary recommendations of the federal civil service commission plus some form of collective bargaining for government employees, the local chairman said.

In Victoria, he said, the joint action committee would first obtain the signatures of federal employees and their relatives before going to the public for signatures.

Cancer or No Cancer, They'll Smoke

As long as there are cigarets there will be smokers, cancer or no cancer. Victorians interviewed yesterday after a luncheon address warning Tuesday by a Victoria doctor, admitted the possibility of smoking causing cancer, but none plan to cut down on their cigarets. "I think about it, but I won't stop," was the way it was put by Bob Broadhurst, 1930

Ernest. Al Wicks, 1117 Grant, pointed out that "some smokers live to be 100." The only thing that bothers Kaare Tandberg, 1766 Carrick, is the expense, and Ed Hallier, 1400 Hillside, said 35 years of smoking hasn't slowed him up a bit. Got a match?—(Colonist photos)

Planner's Blood Pressure Leaps At Ugly Langford-Highway Area

The blood pressure of regional director Brahm Wiesman "goes up 50 points" every time he drives along the Trans-Canada Highway in the Langford area, he said yesterday.

He said so when members of the Real Estate Board of Greater Victoria, at luncheon, asked him what could be done to prevent further unattractive development along the highway approach to the city.

The Capital Region Planning Board is discussing the matter with the provincial government, he said.

"But I think there will have to be some community feeling shown about it," he added.

Mr. Wiesman had an obviously sympathetic audience for a description of the board's master plan for the future physical development of Greater Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula, designed to ward off inconvenience and ugliness.

Obstacle to complete acceptance of the plan by the municipalities, he said, was municipal autonomy, although they had taken a step forward

"by saying that by and large they think it's a good plan and will follow it."

He thought, he said, that if any part of municipal autonomy stood in the way of a good road plan, or of proper development of a park system, for instance, "that part of municipal autonomy is not worthwhile nor a good thing."

Fringe Areas

Bookmobile For City Under Study

Victoria Public Library board beat provincial librarian Willard Ireland to the idea of having bookmobile service within the city limits.

Mr. Ireland suggested this week that the library was doing remarkable work, but that with a bookmobile system in the city "what they could do is fantastic."

The library board, librarian John Lort said yesterday, already has bookmobile operation in the city under study by a committee.

"The committee has been working on the idea of serving the fringe areas of the city by bookmobile—the little children especially—on Saturday," Mr. Lort said.

Bookmobiles, he said, are being used more and more in some cities as preferable to branch libraries.

A fleet of bookmobiles is not contemplated, he added, but "from the demands being made on the present bookmobile, it's possible we may have to consider a second one next year or in 1961, in which case we could expand services considerably."

Improved Patrick Sits Up

Lester Patrick, 76, the silver fox of Canadian hockey, Wednesday night was reported in good condition and improving in hospital here after a bout with pneumonia.

Earlier, Mrs. Patrick said her husband has been sitting up in bed and even taking short walks around his room.

He was taken to hospital about two weeks ago.

Two New Parks Created By Order-in-Council

A 172-acre provincial park on Cowichan Lake was created yesterday by cabinet order-in-council.

The park will be called Lakeview Park and will be developed by the parks service at a later date.

Another park on 40 acres near Mount and Gillies Bay on Texada Island was created and will be known as Shelter Point Park.

Merger Idea Out

We Stand Alone View Royal Says

View Royal wants no part in being included in a municipality comprised of Colwood, Langford and Glen Lake, a spokesman for the View Royal Community Association said last night.

A. W. Bradfield, chairman of the incorporation committee said he wishes every success for the establishment of a municipality including Colwood, Langford and Glen Lake, but believes View Royal should be incorporated as a village.

Mr. Bradfield was commenting on a suggestion by an opposing group headed by William Hollick which proposes a municipality covering 50,000 acres, with a population of between 6,500 and 8,000.

"The size of the area to be incorporated was carefully considered in our study, Mr. Bradfield said, "and it was clearly established that a relatively small densely populated area offered the greatest financial benefits to the people of View Royal."

Letter Unanswered

City Labor Council Rebukes Bennett

Premier Bennett was sharply rebuked by Victoria Labor Council last night for his reluctance to answer its enquiries.

Nettled by the premier's failure to supply information on reasons for the delay in provincial government approval of plans for construction of a new wing for Royal Jubilee Hospital, delegates voted to fire off another letter to the government.

In it, the labor council repeated its previous request for "most urgent and serious consideration" of the hospital plans, and added: "We suggest that when the premier gets a letter from this council that he replies giving the information requested ... not just acknowledging its receipt."

In other labor council business delegates voted to: Ask the Greater Victoria school board to include education courses for trade union members in its future schedule of adult evening classes.

'Impartial' Fluoride Panel Set

Victoria Labor Council is satisfied it has obtained two "impartial" speakers to discuss the fluoridation issue at its next meeting Dec. 2.

A. W. Toome, secretary-treasurer, told council delegates last night that two associate professors from the faculty of Victoria College will speak on the topic for 15 minutes each. He identified them as W. G. Fields, head of the biology department, and L. J. Clark, head of the chemistry department.

At a previous meeting, VLC refused an offer by the Chamber of Commerce to provide speakers who would explain why fluoridation is desirable.

Blind Entertained at Government House

Traditional annual tea for the CNIB was held at Government House, yesterday. Blind people, their escorts, members of the ladies' auxiliary and volunteer drivers were welcomed by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank Ross, and entertained by an

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so ashamed that I must get help from someone who doesn't know us. We've been married 13 years and have four wonderful kids. I just learned I'm pregnant again and my husband is burned up.

He says we can't afford another child and we must give the new baby to an agency that will pay the hospital bill. I'm not thrilled about the new baby but I couldn't bear to give it away. This seems animal-like. My husband has already asked a few relatives and friends if they "want a baby." They look at him as if he's crazy. No one takes him seriously.

Our children are healthy, well behaved and good in school. They never give us trouble. He says "Four is enough for anybody." Please help me. I'm getting very nervous over this.—Z Y X.

Dear Z Y X: Tell Clattertrap to shut his mouth because he's making himself look ridiculous. Make it plain you have no intention of giving up the baby and that the issue is closed.

He'll feed and clothe the fifth child just as he did the fourth, and in a year he'll wonder how he ever thought of doing anything else.

No Gift

Dear Ann: I'm a high school sophomore who has been dating a swell guy for three months. You might say we are going steady.

Tips for Parents

Books Open a New World

By Helen R. Hewson

"We want the best for our children." How often we hear this or a similar phrase, and spoken in many different ways, wistfully, hopefully, complacently. And it has many different meanings, derived from the parents' own sense of what is best in life. To them it may mean comfort, ease, a good education, possessions, or health and happiness.

Whatever their dreams and wishes for their children may be there is one treasure that is open to all—the rich storehouse of books.

COAST TO COAST

This year Young Canada's Book Week is celebrated from coast to coast Nov. 15 to 22, and given wide publicity through the press, radio and more than 30 national organizations that co-operate with the children's librarians of the Canadian Library Association. Its purpose is to arouse interest in good books for boys and girls, to encourage reading at home, at school, and in the library, and to remind us again of the important place books have in a child's life.

EXPERIENCE BEST

There is an old saying that "experience is the best teacher," but in the lives of most children experience provides a very limited course of study. Real life is restricted within the boundaries of home and school and an occasional excursion with parent or teacher. But in the world of books a child can travel far and wide, do wondrous things, meet many people, and make friends with the furred, feathered and finny creatures of the earth.

Through books he can absorb facts, he can explore the wonders of the world, the secrets of nature, the mysteries of science. There are books of fun and fantasy, of song and verse, of magic and adventure, of music and drama and books about hobbies and things to do. A child is never too young to enter the world of books.

Berry Publicity Closes Plant

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UPI)—Cyanamid of Canada will close its aminotriazole-producing plant here due to the publicity over possible contamination of cranberries.

Plant manager H. B. Vanhartsvelde said that 30 employees who work in the aminotriazole section on a seasonal basis would be placed on other jobs "for as long as possible."

Nasty Man

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago my husband surprised me with a lovely fur cape for my birthday. I thought it was all paid for. Yesterday a nasty man from a finance company came to see me. My husband owes $130 on the fur cape.

We haven't got the money, and I don't know where we can get it within 15 days, which is the limit.

The man got snippy and we argued a good bit. I told him the fur had been worn, and that he couldn't get blood out of a turnip.

What can the finance company do?—BURNT.

Dear Burnt: They can take the turnip, if your husband signed what I think he signed.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope).

School Destroyed

LAC LE JEUNE, B.C. (CP)—The community school was destroyed by fire here Monday. Ten pupils enrolled in the school are using the dining room of a lodge as a classroom.

Revival

Designer John McHugh, of Detroit, Mich., has brought back the "fluffy-furred" look of the Thirties in this suit for fall. The loose, slouchy jacket of oatmeal tweed wool is collared in bleached wolf. Tied with a narrow self-bow, the collar is also detachable.

Throughout the world, more research work is done on cancer than on any other medical problem.

Contact Lenses

What do they cost? What are they made of? Can they be worn all the time? More people are interested in and more people are wearing Contact Lenses than ever before, consequently we are asked many questions every day about these miracles of plastic. We have prepared a pamphlet which answers most of the questions you might ask. It is free and we would be glad to send you one.

Two Brides Showed Up

Troops Invited to 'Pretty' Wedding

LOUSADA, Portugal (UPI)—When the organ played "Here Comes the Bride," the bridegroom beamed, mamas wept and the sun smiled on this little village. Then a second bride arrived.

The girl, who announced herself as Maria from the neighboring village of Valongo, claimed she had top priority on the bridegroom, Jose Moreira.

She got strong support from the audience, who had gathered to see Moreira marry their own Irene Pinto de Mesquita.

Soon they divided into two belligerent camps.

Veiled hints gave way to insults, to threats, to slaps, to blows, to kicks and all-out strife.

National guardsmen were called. Ordinarily their mere appearance quells any disturbance. This time they had to trot out sub-machine guns before order was restored.

They Danced Till Dawn At Buckingham Palace

LONDON (CP) — They had a rollicking good time at Buckingham Palace Tuesday night when the Queen threw a party for Princess Alexandra, her cousin.

It was a sort of welcome-home dance for the Princess, a month after a gruelling but successful tour of Australia. About 200 guests danced until early dawn in the palace's white and gold ballroom.

Because it was listed as "a strictly private affair," there was no official description of the party. But some of the guests said it was a great fling.

The Princess, assuming the role of instructor, taught the guests—mostly young people—a new dance called the gypsy tap. This is a military two-step she picked up in Australia.

LUSCIOUS LIME MERINGUE PIE
... why not in summer?

Light Fluffy Dessert Good for Winter Too

There's no reason why light, fluffy, colorful desserts should be confined to the summer months. Luscious lime meringue pie looks as tempting on the table in November as in July. The pale green filling surrounded by fluffy, white meringue is as pretty as a picture.

LIME MERINGUE PIE

Three eggs separated, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons lime juice, 1½ teaspoons grated lime rind, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar and salt; beat eggs until stiff but not dry. Add ¼ cup of the sugar gradually beating, until very stiff.

Cover baking sheet with heavy brown paper. Mark circle eight inches in diameter on paper with pencil. Cover circle with meringue about ½ in. deep. With spoon or pastry tube pile remaining meringue around edge of circle. Bake in a very slow oven (275 deg. F.) 1 hour. Leave on paper until cool.

For the filling, beat the egg yolks; add remaining ¼ cup sugar and lime juice. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Add grated lime rind. Remove from heat; chill. Fold into whipped cream. Place meringue on serving plate. Fill meringue shell. Chill 6 to 12 hours in the refrigerator. Garnish with lime slices, raspberries, mint leaves or cherries if desired.

Yield: 6 servings.

Shopping with Sally Oranges, Nuts Back in News

Now that Father Christmas and his reindeer have arrived in town, minds, young and old, are concentrating on the festive season.

Food is usually the first thought and the arrival of the first shipment of mandarin oranges from Japan is due next week. Mandarins will be on sale in the latter part of next week, at last year's prices.

Nuts are in the news too. First mixed nuts are now in the stores. Nut nibbling is becoming popular with TV viewers and by Christmas increased demand may bring a shortage. Almonds and brazils are already scarce.

Chestnuts from Japan, larger than Californian type, and of very reasonable price, are plentiful this year.

Roasting chestnuts round the fire is a dying art now open fires in homes are often unused, but the nuts can be cooked in the oven. It will require a little caution as it is easy to cook them too quickly and find they explode.

Boiled chestnuts are good to eat. After nicking the skins, put them, skins and all, into boiling water and cook until soft. Split open and squeeze or scrape out the insides. Mashed, with a little sugar and some cream you will find chestnuts are really delicious, and filling.

For Christmas present-shoppers many stores have laid out counters of small, reasonably priced gifts.

A jewelry bar full of good buys at $1 each, had a large variety of earrings, brooches, necklaces and bracelets. Several charm bracelets there would delight a little girl.

Pin and earring sets in colored rhinestones make a more expensive but beautiful present at $4.95 a set, from the same store.

Presents for men are often a problem. A wonderful selection includes a collapsible brush, for hair or clothes, that slips easily into a pocket, a set of gift bridge pencils and a small pocket microscope, handy for stamp collectors, all at $1.

Pocket ashtrays and gay key rings are other suggestions for the man-around-the-house.

One gadget at $2 was three inches long and consisted of a knife, fork and spoon which folded neatly together. At $4 a similar set, rather larger, had a small saw, file, screwdriver and corkscrew added as well. Campers and handymen would find either set useful.

Hungary Breaks Promise

Sir Leslie Reheats Executions Issue

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The question of continued Communist executions of anti-Reds in Hungary burst into the open at the United Nations Wednesday on charges by Sir Leslie Munro, special UN representative.

UN sources first said that the 14th General Assembly's 21-nation steering committee would debate today whether the subject should be placed once more on the agenda. But they announced late Wednesday night that the committee meeting had been postponed indefinitely.

Observers predicted the Hungarian question will remain hot.

As the UN's special representative on Hungary, Sir Leslie charged that the Communist regime is carrying out executions and trials of anti-Communist rebels despite promises such practices had ended.

Police Probe Foul Play

Mobster Aboard Crashed Airliner

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Managing director Aaron Kohn of the New Orleans crime commission said Wednesday his group is investigating whether the presence of Ellis (Itchy) Mandel, an associate of gambler Mickey Cohen, might have had something to do with the loss of a National Airlines plane.

The plane crashed early Monday in the foggy Gulf of Mexico, with 36 passengers and six crew members on board.

"There is no basis for substantiation," Kohn emphasized, "but Mandel is not an ordinary person aboard an ordinary flight. We have a

More Jobs Than Last Year Brighten Winter Picture

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian unemployment moved up gradually during October, while employment dropped more slowly than the seasonal normal.

The government reported yesterday that at Oct. 17 persons without jobs and looking for work had increased by 24,000 during the month to 237,000 and employment had dropped by 25,000 to 6,053,000.

All of the decline in employment came in farm jobs, where there was a drop of 52,000, while those at work in non-farm industry increased by 27,000.

The unemployment figure was considerably brighter than a year earlier, a period when Canada was heading into a winter of heavy unemployment that reached a high of 536,000 last January. Those out of work in October, 1958, numbered 313,000.

Besides those without jobs for October, the bureau of statistics—which estimated the monthly survey figures—listed 14,000 on temporary layoff in October, against 12, 000 in September and 16,000 a year earlier.

Those with jobs in October showed a sizable jump over the same month of last year.

Fishermen in Nova Scotia were equipped with 1,041,450 lobster traps in 1957, when they landed 18,169,000 pounds of lobsters.

Protesting Firemen Lose Round

VANCOUVER (CP)—Firemen Wednesday lost the first round in a battle against a New Westminster city council order that they must work as part-time traffic control officers.

Mr. Justice H. A. MacLean of the British Columbia Supreme Court refused to grant a local of the International Association of Fire Fighters an injunction restraining the city from training and using firemen for the special duties.

Arctic Warm as Belgium-Russian

Industry, Farming Boom Benefits of Bering Dam

LONDON (AP) — A Soviet engineer says his proposed dam across Bering Strait would open vast Arctic areas to farming and industry for Canada, Russia and the United States.

The engineer, P.M. Borisov, said in an interview broadcast Sunday by Moscow radio that his plan would make the Arctic winter "no fiercer than it is now in Belgium and France."

Borisov said 47 per cent of Soviet territory, 60 per cent of Canadian land and 70 per cent of Alaska now affected by permanent frost would thaw out, opening up vast agricultural and industrial areas.

"Thus the tundra, an area of about 7,500,000,000 acres, could become a splendid agricultural base, he added.

Borisov proposes pumping cold water from the Arctic into the Pacific once his dam is built. This, he claims, would cause a rise in temperature in polar regions because warm gulf waters would mix with Arctic waters.

He said his project was being considered by the Soviet Academy of Sciences and that a preliminary study had shown it to be feasible.

Nerves or Draft Dodging?

B.B.'s Husband Told 'Behave Like Elvis'

PARIS (UPI) — Fifty million Frenchmen today debated whether it was being in the army or away from his wife that made Brigitte Bardot's husband nervous in the service.

Actor Jacques Charrier, the fearful sob of his pregnant wife echoing round his ears, went off to the army two weeks ago.

PINUPS BLAMED
Two days later he was in the army hospital with a "case of nerves," partly brought on, he said, by the fact his barracks mates had naked pictures of "BB" all over the walls.

French army officials, being French, diagnosed Charrier's problem as one of L'amour, and prescribed a 48-hour pass with Brigitte as just what the doctor ordered for a case of nerves.

NERVES AGAIN
Well, BB or no BB, Charrier was back in the hospital today—nerves again.

Army officials said this time Charrier's nervous trouble "has been effectively diagnosed." And this time Brigitte wasn't mentioned as the ideal medicine girl.

Newspapers were not so understanding as the army. They wanted to know whether Charrier was dodging the draft.

The newspaper Aurore expressed the suspicion that Charrier, who met BB when he co-starred with her in a movie

U.S. May Ask Stiffer Penalty For Lynching

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Eisenhower administration, angered by Mississippi's failure to take any action against the Mack Charles Parker killers may ask Congress to set stiffer federal penalties in lynching cases.

called "The Cheats," was cheating on the army just to get back to his wife.

The newspaper commended him to the example of one Elvis Presley and suggested that he stop malingering and do his duty.

But Brigitte let it be known how she felt about the "nervous in the service" ruckus about her husband in the newspapers.

She wrote a letter to a columnist for Figaro and said, "I despise you."

Quits $60,000 Job

Wealthy Disc Jockey Sickened by Payoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — A disk jockey says he quit a $60,000 a year radio job in Detroit because of incessant commercial, subservience to ratings and pressures of payola.

Writing in the current issue of Life magazine, Ed McKenzie, formerly of Detroit station WXYZ, says:

"Because of the charts that are put together by numbers of music trade publishers that rate the popularity of records,

I had to play music on my program that I would never have played otherwise.

"Many disk jockeys are on the weekly payroll of five to 10 record companies, which can mean a side income of $25,000 to $50,000 a year.

"Payola usually begins when a song plugger or publisher comes to town and takes the jockey out for dinner. The sky's the limit on entertainment—drinks, girls, everything.

Throne Speech Hint

Quebec Prepares For Hospital Aid

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government took the stand officially yesterday that "no constitutional principle conflicts with the eventual setting up of a hospital insurance scheme."

The speech from the throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Onesime Gagnon to open the fourth session of the 25th legislature contained the statement giving definite indication that Quebec province is set to make preliminary preparations either to participate in the federal plan of set up an insurance scheme of its own.

Quebec now is the only province which does not participate in the national plan.

The official pronouncement said the government proposes to bring down legislation which would enable provincial authorities to obtain full details of the operation of hospital insurance schemes.

'Law of Force' In Land Seizure

HAVANA (AP) — The takeover of Cuban and foreign-owned ranch and farm property by Fidel Castro's forces

Under New U.S. Labor Law

Rackets Deserting Unions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A knockout blow is being aimed at labor rackets by all branches of the United States government.

Labor Secretary James Mitchell said the new labor law passed by Congress and administered by his department already is beginning to rid unions of corrupt elements. He said it's also giving union members a full voice in running their organizations.

And court-appointed monitors Tuesday charted a speedy new cleanup drive of the big scandal-racked Teamsters' union.

The Supreme Court refused Monday to set aside lower court decisions arming the monitors with sweeping reform enforcement powers. Teamster president James R. Hoffa said the union, though disappointed at the ruling, will "live up to the court's decision."

Martin F. O'Donoghue, monitor chairman, said his group now will move on a variety of fronts including charges that could result in removal of Hoffa as president.

"We can move very fast now because the last legal roadblock is out of the way,"

O'Donoghue said before a strategy meeting Tuesday with two fellow monitor board members. Mitchell, reporting on the first two months of operation of the anti-corruption provisions of the new U.S. labor law, said some union officials with criminal or Communist backgrounds "already" have quit union office.

Farmers Reject Protest Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three British Columbia farm leaders Wednesday rejected the idea of a general farm strike.

They were asked to comment on a proposal that Jack Delf, president of the Vancouver Kiwanis Club, made at Cloverdale Saturday that farmers should go on strike to protect themselves against dictated wages and prices by city interests.

Mutiny of TV Cowpokes

Poor Little Rich Stars Restless in TV 'Chains'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The whole town's talking about the Burbank mutiny.

Never have so many actors been so unhappy as in the Warner Brothers television productions. Here is the scorecard of the series stars:

WALKED OFF LOT

Wayne Preston (Colt 45) has walked off the lot and gone into the airplane business, complaining that his contract was "as equitable as a lynching party."

Ed Byrnes (77 Sunset Strip) refused to report for work until he got a raise. He gets $400 weekly, says he takes home only $284.

BOTH BITTER

James Garner (Maverick) and Clint Walker (Cheyenne) are bitter about their contracts. Says Garner: "I feel like a slab of meat hanging there; every once in a while they cut off a piece."

Peter Brown (Lawman) is trying to get a new contract. Says he feels like a "peon actor."

Jack Kelly (Maverick) feels he is working "in an area of servitude."

Of course, it's not unusual for actors to complain; it's chronic with their craft.

But there has never been

Aid Given 'Free' Man

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Beatrice Joan Schimek of New Westminster Wednesday was acquitted of a charge of helping a prisoner escape from the Oakalla forestry work camp at near-Chilliwack River.

It was alleged she drove Laurent La France from the vicinity of the camp to New Westminster last month while he was serving a sentence.

Magistrate Alan Guinet ruled in police court that the charge was faulty because, La France had already escaped and therefore Mrs. Schimek did not assist him. The man is still being sought.

such a mass uprising as among the cowpokes of the TV range. A meeting between the Screen Actors Guild and studio officials reach an agreement to rectify certain working conditions.

The actors claimed they were due money in six figures for alleged contract violations, mostly involving overtime.

OLD BATTLE

But the settlement hasn't stopped the beefs. The battle is an old one, between the studio which feels it created the stars from nothing and the stars who feel they are misused. It is aggravated because of the immense volume of work required for TV, plus the fact that the new medium creates stars so fast.

SHOOT TO TOP

William T. Orr, television executive producer for Warner Brothers and himself once an actor said:

"Warner Brothers' contracts have made it possible for many players to develop from complete unknowns in a brief time. These contracts, signed in good faith by both parties, have opened the door to opportunity and advancement ...

BETTER THAN BEFORE

"The studio has every right to expect players to respect their contractual obligations."

"Look for yourself and see what some of these unhappy people were doing before they became associated with Warner Brothers. Their plaint reminds me of the story of an actor complaining that there must be an easier way to make a living. An office boy over-hearing spoke up and said: 'There are a lot of easier ways to make a living—but not at the salary you're getting.'"

Outcast Returns

NEW YORK (AP)—An outcast for six years, the International Longshoremen's Association came back into the labor fold Wednesday. George Meany, AFL-CIO president, presented a charter of affiliation to IILA President William Bradley.

Generosity Helps Eddie Hide Bereavement Grief

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Eddie Cantor is overcoming grief caused by the recent death of his daughter, who he says "considered herself nobody."

"But, we're going to make her somebody," Eddie said of his daughter who passed away last May of cancer.

For years, Cantor joked about the fact he had five girls and no sons. Marjorie was his secretary and her death was a severe blow to Eddie.

At the time of Marjorie's death, Eddie's doctors feared for the comedian's health. At 67, Eddie suffers from a heart condition.

"Her passing was a very emotional thing and my doctors were concerned about how I might take it," Eddie said. "I've worked at matching her wonderful courage. She refused to let us know she had cancer until the last."

Eddie has donated thousands of dollars to hospitals and schools establishing memorials for his daughter.

"We've turned over her marvellous library to the University of California at Los Angeles," Eddie said.

"Also, we've given four scholarships to Brandeis University in her name. Some of the money for the scholarships was mine and part of it was donated."

"In Jerusalem, on the campus of the Hebrew University, we're building a 'Marjorie Cantor cancer research library.' And, there's a forest of 50,000 trees being planted in her name in Israel."

Garden Notes

Orphans Hungry, Too

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

As a rule, the portion of the vegetable plot in which we grow our carrots, beans, lettuce and onions gets plenty of attention. The conscientious gardener digs it over every fall, incorporating lots of mellow old manure, and all through the growing season the crops are kept well nourished. Away down at the far end of the garden, though, are the perennial vegetables—rhubarb, horseradish, asparagus, Jerusalem artichoke and mint—and because these poor orphans come up of their own accord every spring, they are expected to scratch for a living without any assistance at all.

These plants need attention too, and this is a good time to get in a few licks and make life a bit easier for them.

First, the rhubarb bed. Remove the old stems and burn them—because of its high acid content, rhubarb is not a welcome addition to the compost heap. Now fork six to nine inches deep between the crowns, working in a dressing of one cupful hoof-and-horn meal—if you can find a source of supply—and one of bone meal, both per square yard. Failing this, use Golden Vigoro, which is almost as slow and long-lasting as the excellent hoof-and-horn meal. Finally, mulch the bed with a six-inch layer of manure, straw or compost.

If your rhubarb threw up flowering shoots early in the season last year, it is a pretty sure sign that the soil is exhausted and the plants are in need of lifting and dividing. The new site should be dug over deeply—the whole patch and not just the holes for the plants—mixing a bucketful of old manure to each square yard, plus the supplementary dressing recommended above. Divide the old rhubarb roots into pieces, each with two or three growth buds, plant them four feet apart, and apply the mulch. Don't take any crop at all next year from newly-planted clumps.

If the asparagus bed isn't cleaned up yet, cut down the old foliage to within six inches of the ground. Fork over the bed shallowly, being careful not to injure the crowns of the plants, and spread a mulch of old manure at least four inches deep over the whole bed. It may be necessary to cover the manure mulch with an inch of soil to prevent the birds from scratching in it.

Horseradish needs replanting every third year. The entire bed is dug up, and a sunny site dug over about a foot deep and enriched with old manure or mellow-compost. Straight, clean roots are selected for replanting, each one with a clearly visible growth bud in its top, and planted five inches deep and 15 inches apart.

A lot of our mint hereabouts is suffering from a rust infection which spots the leaves and distorts growth, and in some cases forces the plants into premature flowering. There is a technique of heat therapy which will eliminate the rust, in which the plants are dug up, washed, and immersed in hot water at 118 degrees for 20 minutes before replanting in clean ground.

Personally, I find this a rather difficult and messy business, and I find I can keep my mint free from rust by heaping an armful of dry straw or excelsior over the mint patch every fall and touching a match to it. A quick flash fire like this does a grand clean-up job, and pests as well as disease spores perish on the hot seat in the process.

Beds of sage, thyme and marjoram require transplanting every fourth year. In other years, the soil between the plants should be pricked over with the fork, and a dressing of one cupful of Golden Vigoro or the hoof-and-horn plus bone meal dressing roof-and-horn plus bone meal dressing scratched in. Follow up with a three-inch mulch of peat moss, Blue Whale, or rotted leaves.

Vaudeville Stars

Big Chance, Big Flop

NEW YORK (UPI)—What happened to vaudeville?

Why you remember: After radio and motion pictures came along, they invented television and put all of vaudeville into one program called the Ed Sullivan Show.

But Tuesday night, a so-called 60-minute "Valentine to Vaudeville" was offered on NBC-TV's Startime. Called "George Burns in 'The Big Time,'" the hour starred Burns (without Allen), Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor and George Jessel. It sounded like a good idea for a show, but unfortunately, the opportunity for some high-flying fun and displays of showmanship was wasted.

Except for Burns' jaunty cigar-flicking and singing of a medley that included "Red Rose Rag" and "Where Did You Get That Girl?", his intervention during a number by the Kingston Trio, and some electronic tricks that helped Burns introduce his guests at the start of the show,

Miss Opportunity

It was an uninspired, draggy, undramatic event that ranged from tolerably good to chaotic.

I had expected these four lads to come out and sock across some rousing sharp material — perhaps after throwing away the script — to show the youngsters just what show business and "Playing the Palace" was all about in the vaudeville era.

Instead, the jokes were recited without a context in time. As a result, they flopped as old jokes are wont to do, even on TV in 1960.

Hollywood Today

Jimmy, Hitch to Team Again

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Jimmy Stewart will make a movie with Alfred Hitchcock in January—their fifth together.

Behind this announcement is an unusual arrangement. "Hitch said to me, 'We'd better do another story,'" Jimmy told me. "And when Hitch says that, I usually say 'Yes.' Then he says, 'What about having the man murdered?' Fine, I'm your man," I tell him, and that's how we get to make pictures together.

"I did one for Hitchcock once because he wanted to do a movie about a man being killed in Morocco. So we went to Morocco and did it—'The Man Who Knew Too Much.'"

Don't be taken in by Stewart's casual attitude toward life and his career. He's quite shrewd. It was Jimmy who started the lovely practice for actors of getting 50 per cent of a movie's profits. His first, "Winchester, 33," made him a fortune.

James, with big percentages in five current pictures, can afford a failure now and then. He'll make millions from "The FBI Story" and "Anatomy of a Murder." Not so much from "Vertigo" and "Bell, Book and Candle."

"There are so many intangibles in moviemaking," he observed. "There's always an excuse if things go wrong. You can say, 'Well, it's been raining this week' or 'It's not been raining.' Or 'It's hot,' or 'It's cold,' or 'It's Lent,' or 'It should have been in color.' Film-making is an abstract sort of business. You just can't tell what will be a success. But the fans can. They smell it out. They'll go if it's raining, or sleet, or floods."

As for television, once known as The Monster, Jimmy believes, "Television is a very beneficial thing for my movie career, although I don't think a series would be. But every once in a while it's good for an actor to appear on TV—I don't mean guest appearances, I mean acting, like radio used to be, a sort of reminder to the public that you're around."

The audience is coming back to movie theatres, Stewart believes, and produced some impressive figures to prove his point. "In July of this year, there were 82,000,000 paid admissions, as against 35,000,000 and 40,000,000 for the same time last year. And 55,000,000 people went to drive-in theatres in that period as well. The TV people say we've lost the age group between 25 and 45. But a big percentage of these people are now going to the movies."

As a general rule, with support for the unbid suits and no strong suit of your own, the take-out double should be preferred to an overcall. South's hand was ideal for this action, and the final contract was eminently sound. Yet great care was required to make the hand.

Declarer won the spade opening, and led a low diamond to dummy's queen. The heart three was led, East played low, and South's king won. Fearing a possible diamond ruff—fatal if East had begun with three trumps and a singleton diamond—declarer next led a low club and played dummy's ace! Another low heart was taken by East's ace, and East cashed the spade king and led another spade. South ruffed with the heart queen, drew West's last trump with dummy's jack, and conceded a club to East's king, making four odd.

A careless declarer might have led a low trump to North's jack at trick two, East would win the ace, and play the king and another spade. South would now be helpless, if he ruffed low, West would overruff. When declarer re-entered dummy for the second heart lead, he forsook the club finesse because East's opening bid had marked him with the club king. In this way, he avoided any possibility of the spade return until another round of trumps had been played.

Texas Croesus Outbid By Speedy Art Dealers

His Name's 'Enormous'

He's the biggest greyhound in the U.S. and his name is "Enormous." The huge dog, weighing 92 pounds, has been racing at Miami. He measures six feet from nose to tail. He's posed next to a Shetland pony.

LONDON (UPI)—Paul Getty, the vastly wealthy Texas oilman, tried to buy some old masters yesterday but found the $2,800-a-second pace at Sotheby's auction rooms a little too rich for him.

Getty, one of the world's wealthiest men, went into the art sale a clear favorite to snatch up most anything he wanted, including the featured painting: Peter Paul Rubens' "Head of a Bearded Man."

SNAPPED UP

With 95 seconds of the open bid, however, the Rubens was the property of London art dealer Edward Speelman who paid $98,000 for it.

Getty, bidding through art dealer Geoffrey Agnew, trailed behind in Speelman's golden dust with an offer of $70,000.

DEALER SCORES

The Texan also was outbid at two other points in the auction by his own representative, Agnew, who went beyond Getty's "maximum price" to buy for himself.

Such was the case with Gainsborough's "Portrait of Anne" (Agnew: $95,200; Getty: $84,000) and with Romney's "Double Portrait" (Agnew: $22,400; Getty: $14,000).

THOUSANDS UNDER

Getty lost another Gainsborough, "Portrait of Philip," to Ambrose Congreve. His last bid was several thousand dollars under Congreve's winning offer of $39,200.

SURPRISED MURMURS

Speelman's upset victory over the American financial Goliath brought surprised murmurs from the veteran art dealers and art lovers who had picked Sotheby's for the sale.

Word that Getty was bidding had spread quickly through London art circles and had brought a full audience, including some who watched the proceedings in the various rooms at Sotheby's over closed circuit television.

NEAR RECORD PRICE

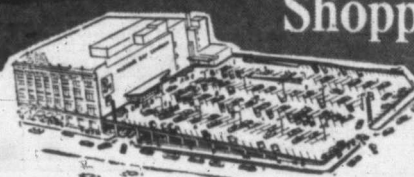

Few had thought Getty would allow himself to be outbid. As it was, the "Head of a Bearded Man" brought one of the highest prices ever paid for a Rubens except for the celebrated "Adoration of the Magi" which was sold last summer at Sotheby's for three-quarters of a million dollars.

Lac la Biche, 130 miles north of Edmonton, was the site of a fur-trading post in 1798.

Canada Bans 'Rigged' TV Quizzes

OTTAWA (CP) — A ban on rigged quiz shows and a delayed start on the requirement that station programming be 55-per-cent Canadian in content highlighted Canada's first television regulations announced Wednesday by the Board of Broadcast Governors.

The board gave TV broadcasters until April 1, 1962, to reach the 55-per-cent Canadian content requirement. It set no minimum for the present, but stations will have to broadcast 45-per-cent Canadian content between April 1, 1961, and March 31, 1962, in preparation for the 55-per-cent level. Content would be computed over four-week periods.

The board relaxed its original proposal to ban morning TV broadcasting except for such as educational and children's programs on Saturday and special events approved by the board.

It will allow TV between 6 a.m. and 12 noon. But stations now operating in the morning and wishing to extend this service, along with any present and future stations planning to get into the morning field for the first time, must submit their programming plans to the board.

The board, obviously concerned with the U.S. quiz show scandal that boiled over while it was holding public hearings on proposed regulations earlier this month, added the quiz-show ban as an after-thought. Dr. Andrew Stewart, BBG chairman, said at a press conference that while the board has no evidence and has received no complaints that the kind of "flagrant deception" uncovered in the U.S. exists in Canada, it will keep its eyes open.

The board dropped its original proposal to reserve two hours nightly in the peak viewing hours between 8 and 11 p.m. for purposes to be prescribed by the board.

'Mailman' Nabs $12,500

TORONTO (CP) — Two gunmen, one disguised as a mailman, robbed an Imperial Bank branch of $12,500 yesterday.

The mailman bandit knocked on the door before 8:30 a.m. and was let in. He pulled a revolver and let in his accomplice. The pair robbed the vault when the time clock went off.

Pro-Red Unionists Lose in Sudbury

SUDBURY (UPI) — A pro-Communist faction lost its bid for power yesterday in a crucial election fight for control of Canada's biggest single union local.

Don Gillis, 46, a Cape Breton Islander and leader of the non-Communist slate, said the result that returned him and his followers to power was "a smack in the eye for the reds." Final unofficial results showed that Gillis defeated left-winger Nels Thibault by 7,221 votes to 5,903 for president of local 568 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. Gillis' full slate of 17 men was re-elected.

500 Fund 'Made Christmas a Bright Star in Our Year'

"It made Christmas a bright star in our year."

In one sentence, a grateful woman packaged the feelings of 500 families who received cheques from The Daily Colonist 500 Fund. Hundreds of such notes flooded the Colonist office soon after Christmas.

written by people trying to find words to say a special "thank you."

They were written on Christmas cards, on foolscap, or even on scraps of paper. Some, written by crippled hands or by people with failing eyesight, were barely legible. But the message always came through. "With the cheque I was able to give my four children and myself one of the nicest and happiest Christmases we ever had..."

"It made our world and our Christmas seem the best ever..."

"When I got the cheque, I knew the children would have a merry Christmas after all..."

The letters were addressed to The Daily Colonist, but they were really meant for the people of Victoria whose contributions have made the fund such a success during the past three years.

and joy is given, they would feel well rewarded."

"Thank everyone for us. We can't really express in words the thanks. It made so much difference in Christmas for our family..."

"Thanks to all who made this wonderful gift possible. Tears of joy are so comforting..."

In three years, 1,500 such families have been helped at Christmas. Selected by city welfare agencies, they each received a cheque to be used as they saw fit to make their Christmas brighter.

This year, the welfare agencies will pick 500 more families, and again it will be up to the people who contribute. The fund opened Sunday, and since then a total of $205.09 has been raised.

Later this week, a list of donors will be published. Donations should be sent to The Daily Colonist 500 Fund, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria, or left at the Colonist office at that address. They can also be dropped at the Colonist's downtown business office, 1215 Broad Street. The fund will be kept open as long as possible, and cheques will be sent out just in time for Christmas.

Donations sent now may be your earliest Christmas present of the year. They may also be the most important, and the most satisfying.

Newfoundland Probes Outbreak of Scurvy

ST. JOHN'S Nfld. (CP)—Dr. John Davies, chief medical officer for Newfoundland, said Tuesday night the health department is investigating a "sizable outbreak" of scurvy among provincial children. He said the "mass of children affected by the disease are under the age of one year." He could not estimate the number affected.

France

Atomic Force Planned

PARIS (Reuters)—The National Assembly Wednesday debated a 1960 military budget that provides for a 1,000,000-man army, half of it stationed in Algeria, and development of an "atomic striking force."

Total estimated expenditure for the year is 1,650,000,000 francs (about $3,160,000,000.)

This is 61,000,000 francs (about $123,300,000) more than the proposed military budget and 16,000,000 francs (about $32,480,000) above the estimated actual expenditures this year.

Engagement? Duchess Won't Say

LONDON (Reuters)—A spokesman for the Duchess of Kent Wednesday declined to comment on a newspaper report of rumors of a possible engagement between her daughter, Princess Alexandra, and Crown Prince Harold of Norway. The report by The Daily Sketch gossip columnist says it is known that the crown prince's father, King Olaf, is "anxious that his son should marry into the British Royal Family."

Tighten Up RCs Told

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII last night asked Catholics to set a "good example" by putting their house in order so they would have a right to ask for the return of all Christians to the Roman Catholic Church.

Mother Free, Didn't Know Son Hunting

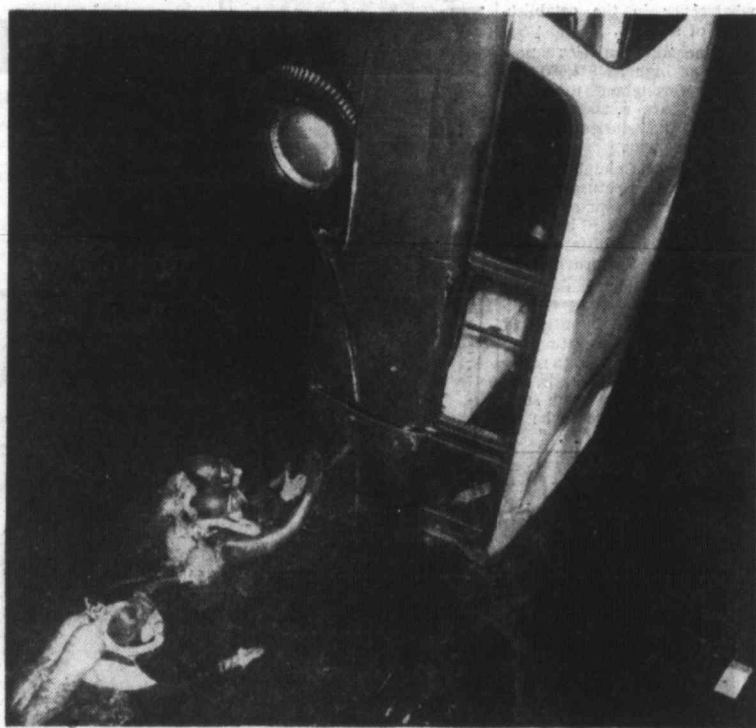

CHILLIWACK (CP)—A Chilliwack mother, charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency after her son was injured in a hunting accident, was acquitted of the count in police court here Wednesday.

Mrs. John Ferguson testified she did not know that her 12-year-old son had gone hunting with a 14-year-old companion.

Officer Rescues Driver in Plunge

A navy officer plunged into Esquimalt harbor yesterday to rescue a Victoria woman who could not swim seconds after her station wagon skidded off the navy refueling jetty into 35 feet of water.

Lieut. Robert Duston was credited with saving the life of Mrs. Mary Locke, wife of Lt.-Cmdr. M. M. Locke, 982 Darwin. Mrs. Locke, rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital, escaped with mild shock and minor bruises.

Mother of four children, Mrs. Locke still didn't know last night how she had managed to get out of the station wagon. A non-swimmer who is "scared to death" of the water, she dismissed the situation by saying:

"I guess my number just wasn't up yet."

Silent 'Talking Car' Fears to Embarrass

The mystery of why the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce "talking police car" doesn't talk was cleared up for members of the organization last night—more or less.

The car circulates through the downtown area during the pre-Christmas shopping rush and, by means of a loud-speaker, warns pedestrians and motorists against dangerous traffic practices.

Only trouble with the scheme, a number of members pointed out at a general meeting last night, is that the talking police car actually doesn't do very much talking.

And the reason, according to Jaycee senator Bud Simpson, is that the Victoria police constable detailed to participate in the Junior Chamber scheme by talking over the loud-speaker has been under orders from Chief John Blackstock "not to embarrass anyone individually" by talking to them about traffic infractions.

Pearkes Mum On CF-100 Replacement

OTTAWA (UPI)—Defence Minister George Pearkes declined comment yesterday on U.S. Air Force Gen. Laurence Kuter's statement that Canada should replace the CF-100 jet interceptor with a more modern plane. Canadian air defences come under Kuter's command.

'Clobber' Sub Fleet In Making

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Admiral Arleigh Burke said Wednesday night that about 45 Polaris missile submarines, the kind the U.S. navy is building, "will be able to clobber any aggressor who would dare attack us."

The chief of naval operations declared that:

With the Polaris in the nation's arsenal of retaliatory weapons "we do not have to keep piling missile on missile just to make sure that some missiles would survive an armed attack."

Mikoyan Arrives In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—First deputy Soviet premier Anastas I. Mikoyan arrived here yesterday from Halifax, N.S., in a turbo-jet plane to open a Russian exposition Saturday.

"I am happy the exposition opening comes at a time when there is a lessening of international tension due to the U.S. talks between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev," he said.

Mikoyan, with a party of 29, was welcomed by Mexican Foreign Minister Manuel Tello.

HARLOW CURTICE
... shattered

HARRY W. ANDERSON
... got excited

Curtice Badly Shaken

ST. ANNE ISLAND, Ont. (UPI)—Former General Motors vice-president Harry W. Anderson was shot and killed yesterday by Harlow W. Curtice, retired GM president, during a duck hunting expedition.

The accident occurred on an exclusive hunting preserve on the south end of this island near the Canadian mainland on Lake St. Clair while the Canadian duck hunting season was only hours old.

EXCITED
The operator of the lodge where the accident occurred said Anderson apparently became "excited" and stood up in Curtice's line of fire.

The lodge operator, Capt. Ray Brunzell, said Curtice was "very broken, I can tell you that," by the accident.

IN SAME BLIND

Brunzell said Curtice and Anderson were together in a duck blind and that two other members of their party, Art Brown and George Kennedy, owner of the hunting preserve and lodge, were in another.

"It is my understanding that they were shooting at ducks and that Mr. Anderson may have gotten excited and stepped in front of Mr. Curtice," Brunzell said.

STATE OF SHOCK

Ontario Provincial Police constable Owen Collins, who talked with Curtice when the hunting party arrived on the mainland, said the former GM executive appeared to be in a state of shock.

PALE, SHAKEN

"He was pale and obviously shaken by the accident," Collins said. "He was in control of himself but he appeared to be very disturbed underneath."

Collins said Curtice told him substantially the same story about the accident as Brunzell related.

IN LINE OF FIRE

"He said he had taken aim on a duck and Anderson stood up just as he pulled the trigger," Collins said.

Collins said the matter had been referred to Crown Attorney S. A. K. Logan but said he presumed "there will be inquest."

Ottawa to Blame

Schools Throttled By Tight Money

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said last night that the "foolish tight money policy" of the federal government is throttling British Columbia's school building program.

"At the provincial level we are doing everything possible to prevent curtailment of school construction," he said.

But, he warned, "unless the money market situation drastically improves the school building program will, of necessity, be severely restricted."

He said the government had authorized school building referendums totalling more than $5,000,000, but "even if the owner-electors assent, neither the school boards nor my department can be assured of the availability of funds on the bond market, or temporary bank borrowings, to enable construction projects to proceed."

He said that in July of this year the provincial government sold $6,000,000 worth of school bonds at a price of $93.54 per $100, or a cost to the boards of 5.78 per cent.

"This month, when we found the market was not receptive to more school bonds, the provincial government purchased $6,000,000 worth of these bonds. This makes a total of $12,000,000 worth of bonds sold this year to enable school boards to continue their construction programs," he said.

Gun in His Stomach Jammed—Saved Him

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man testified Wednesday his life was spared by the jamming of a gun which was allegedly used earlier to kill his sister.

John Rivers appeared at the preliminary hearing of Raymond Leonard Schultz, 31, of Vancouver, charged with murder in the death of Lois Rivers in the bathroom of a suite here Oct. 4.

Schultz was remanded for trial in B.C. Supreme Court. Rivers testified that a 9-mm. semi-automatic pistol was shoved into his stomach by Schultz.

"It apparently didn't fire, so he struck me over the head," Rivers said. He wrestled the gun from Schultz and tried to shoot the accused as he fled the apartment, but the gun was still jammed, he testified.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Somewhat disappointing early-season attendance shows how much convincing was needed for Victoria's somewhat disillusioned hockey fans. There have been signs of late that the Cougars are catching on and need only stay in the top four to play to something resembling old-time crowds, but support is coming slower than it should. On view at Memorial Arena this season is the best calibre of hockey yet produced by the Western Hockey League.

It may not be more interesting than it was in that memorable season that the one and only Roger Leger led the Cougars to their one and only WHL championship but it is better hockey. There are more good players and the WHL has achieved a balance that it has seldom, if ever, achieved before. There are indications that Vancouver Canucks may be a shade better than the rest and that Spokane Comets are a touch below the other clubs but the difference is slight and the other five clubs are about as evenly matched as it is possible to be.

Game scores certainly support that claim. Of the first 65 games, 24 have been decided by one goal, three have ended in ties and the final margin was two goals in 20 games. A few different bounces here and there would almost have reversed the present standings. And things seem to be getting even tighter. Of the last 16 games, nine were won by one goal and six by two goals.

Adding to the fine hockey entertainment is more sensible refereeing. The big difference this season is a bit more leniency in body-checking and play is more on the robust side than it has been in the WHL in other seasons.

Evidence of the improved hockey has been there for all to see in the 10 games played at Memorial Arena. Almost without exception play has been wide open but exceptional goading and good checking has kept scoring down to an average of 5.4 goals a game. And the closeness of competition is reflected in figures which show that the Cougars have only outscored their opponents, 32-22, although showing a 7-9-1 record at home.

All of this has set up what should be a real scramble for the four playoff spots, with the big scramble likely to be between the Cougars, Edmonton Flyers, Calgary Stampede and Winnipeg Warriors for two of the four post-season berths. It's still early in the season but this observer is inclined to concede that the Canucks and Seattle Totems will be in the first four when it's all over and that the Comets are likely to be where they are right now—dead (almost) last.

Canucks have put together what may well be the best club the WHL has ever had.

In Hank Bassen, they have as fine a goalkeeper as there is outside of the National Hockey League and looking after his interests are five big, dour and capable defencemen. But as impressive as Canucks are on defence, they are at least as potent up front.

There they have nine forwards whose best WHL seasons total 287 goals. All but one, who had 22 in his best season, have scored at least as many as 28 goals in one schedule and six have gone past 30 at least once. Only Colin Kilburn and Ed Dorohoy can be classed as real veterans, and neither has shown any signs of slowing up. The Canucks will have to beat themselves this season and, while there is some hope that there are enough explosive personalities around to bring this about, it should be remembered that differences when winning are a lot different than differences when losing.

Behind the Canucks one has to rate the Totems, the often under-rated defending champions who jelled near the end of last season to prove much the best. They are equally as good this season despite the loss of Val Fonteyne with sophomore Marc Boileau and an improved Bill MacFarland making it up. The Totems have balance—a defence which doesn't always get the credit it deserves and Guyle Fielder to lead the offence.

If the above gives the impression that I believe the Cougars are in tough company it is the impression intended. They are, but Hal Laycoe's club belongs in it.

There has been an individual disappointment or two but the Cougars are a sound club playing fine team hockey. Their forwards are looking after their checking chores, the club is the best in the WHL at penalty-killing and has developed a potent power play which has already accounted for 15 goals.

Biggest item on the debit side as regards the Cougars is that they have yet to show hoped-for scoring punch. Only the lowly Comets have averaged fewer goals per game and until they come up with a more explosive attack, the Cougars will have to stay close to win.

On the other hand, the club has spirit and desire to go along with its defensive abilities, and it figures to improve. The Cougars could finish anywhere between second and sixth places with the guess here that it will either be third or a bang-up fourth. I think they will show more consistency than either Calgary or Winnipeg, who should both finish ahead of Spokane.

So, it says here, the WHL race will shape up with Vancouver proving the best, Edmonton's young Flyers challenging Seattle for the runner-up spot with the Cougars hanging close enough to beat out either or both. And close behind, and certainly not out of it, will be Calgary and Winnipeg. And while the Comets appear to be out of it, any club which takes them lightly may find that thinking the difference between making or missing the playoffs.

Spokane Gets Break; NBC Fights to Die?

... back in majors

Spokane Comets, who led the Western Hockey League in attendance last year, got some financial help from the city of Spokane yesterday to counteract slumping interest this season.

Roy McBride, manager of the Comets, now deep in the WHL cellar, and city officials announced that a $400 minimum charge for use of the Coliseum is being waived.

Comets, who had asked for rent relief, instead will pay 12 1/2 per cent of the gate to the city for Coliseum rental. Joseph Drumheller, Coliseum board chairman, said: "This means that if the attendance picks up at hockey games the city will make just as much money as it would under the old contract. We are worried about it. We want to give the hockey team whatever relief is possible."

McBride said: "We are not crying and not desperate, but this action certainly bolsters our confidence. We'll promote hard and play hard and I know things will improve."

The National Broadcasting Company will try to cancel its three-year contract to televise the Friday night fights, says New York sports columnist Jimmy Cannon.

NBC will make the attempt, he said, at a meeting next Monday with the Gillette Razor Co., fight program sponsors. Network officials denied knowledge of the report and pointed out the contract is less than a year old.

Pike's Patsies One Point Away from NHL Cellar

New York Rangers are proving that a new coach wasn't what they needed and 34-year-old Johnny Bower is proving that To-they're RUINOUS. Rangers, who have been ruining almost everything this season except their opposition, ruined the NHL coaching debut of Alf Pike, who may already be wondering if it wouldn't have been better to have stayed on as boss man of the Winnipeg Warriors.

And no wonder. The Rangers may have set a record last night as they managed only nine shots on Chicago goalkeeper Glenn Hall and played the first period without once getting a shot on target.

Four games and two coaches after they sent Phil Watson to hospital for removal of a peptic ulcer, the Rangers find themselves within one point of the National Hockey League dungeon.

They got that way last night at Chicago, where the slowly-reviving Hawks handed them a 5-3 setback.

At Toronto, the Maple Leafs moved within two points of second place with a 3-2 win

stopped 12 of 13 shots and kept the Wings from at least a tie.

Bower has been beaten only 38 times in 17 games this season to make up for a Toronto attack which has produced only 43 goals.

Bower's per-game average of 2.24 is second only to the 1.90 average owned by Plante.

QUITE A FEAT

Somehow, they managed the first goal of the game, early in the second period, but the Hawks scored three before Rangers got their second and five before Pike's patsies got No. 3.

Since Watson left, the Rangers have won once, tied once and lost twice. They "celebrated" Watson's departure by scoring a 6-3 win over Boston with general-manager Muzz Patrick calling the shots from the bench Nov. 11.

Pike was an observer with Patrick still doing the coaching as the Rangers got themselves blanked 4-0 by Detroit and scrambled to a 2-2 tie with Toronto in their next two games. There, Patrick left—just in time. The Hawks have won only three times this season and last night's victory was their second over the Rangers.

Rookie Bill Hay from Calgary Stampede and Bobby Hull, Chicago's brightest star, led the Hawks with two goals apiece. Red Sullivan did what he could for Rangers with two of their goals.

Bower, as he has been all season, was making the "big" saves last night in a game in which the shots on goal—35 for Toronto and 27 for Detroit—didn't tell the true story.

Power Plays Seattle Secret

EDMONTON — A pair of power-play goals, the club's 17th and 18th of the season, carried Seattle to a 5-4 Western Hockey League win over Edmonton Flyers last night.

Strengthened by the addition of defenceman Pete Goegan and forward Forbes Kennedy from the parent Detroit club, Edmonton fired three second period goals after falling behind, 2-0, in the opening frame.

Fillion, on a power-play, and Pat Ginnell, finishing off a fine breakaway play with Bill Davidson, had put Seattle ahead early.

Flyers cut Seattle's lead to 4-3 entering the third period before Bill MacFarland stick-handled through the Edmonton defence and pulled Riggan to one side before hitting a gaping opening.

MacFarland's goal at 5:27 was erased by Gordon Strate's 15-foot backhand shot two and a half minutes later but Flyers couldn't get any closer even though coach Bud Poile yanked Riggan in the final minute of play.

SECOND STRAIGHT

It was Seattle's second straight win 5-4 over Edmonton and moved the Totems into second place, two points ahead of Victoria.

An 11-year WHL player, Filion scored once in the first period and added two more in the second. His four points moved him into a tie with mate Marc Boileau, who picked up an assist.

Filion has 11 goals and 18 assists for 29 points while Boileau has 15 goals and 24 assists. Filion leads in assists while Boileau heads the league in goals.

Seattle's only two losses on the Prairies were a 1-0 set-

Cabinet to Consider Alberni Tax Case

City Hopes to Skyrocket Firm's Fixed Assessment

Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black yesterday promised to arrange a meeting between the provincial cabinet and a deputation from Port Alberni city council to discuss the contentious $800,000 assessment against MacMillan & Bloedel's Alberni Valley plant.

But it is not certain that the meeting can be arranged before Nov. 30, when the council is due to prepare its provisional budget.

BUDGET DELAYED

If the meeting has not taken place by then the provisional budget will be delayed. Mayor Loran Jordon said last night.

Under the terms of an agreement between MacMillan & Bloedel and the city in 1945, the assessment of the plant for the city's tax purposes was fixed at $800,000 until 1965. However, the city's share of the budget for School District 70 is based not on the fixed assessment of $800,000, but on the actual value of $32,000,000.

CLAIMS UPHOLD

The city attempted to have the fixed assessment agreement upset in court but the Supreme Court of Canada upheld the company's claims. The agreement was made operative by a special Act passed in the provincial legislature.

Mayor Jordon, Ald. Norman Odgers, chairman of the council's finance committee, and clerk Dennis Thain met Mr. Black yesterday morning to put the city's case.

Mr. Black gave the deputation a sympathetic hearing. Mayor Jordon said last night. He promised to expedite a meeting with the cabinet.

RAISE DIFFERENCE

Unless the assessment agreement is ended by the provincial government the city will have to raise the difference between its own assessment taxation and the city's share of the school board's costs from homeowners, Mayor Jordon pointed out.

Mayor Jordon has said recently that if the MacMillan & Bloedel assessment agreement is ended the city of Port Alberni will benefit by an additional $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 tax revenue by the time the agreement is due to end in 1965.

Uncontrolled Army Truck Ruins Garage

DUNCAN—An army truck driver on convoy duty lost control of his truck yesterday and demolished a garage, damaged a new small car in it and two bicycles.

Police said the driver was John Warren Flynn, 18, of Work Point Barracks at Victoria.

The accident happened in Maple Bay about noon at the corner of Herd and Maple Bay Roads, on the side of a hill, when the truck was turning a corner.

Total damage was estimated at about $2,000. Owner of the garage and car is Mrs. Helen Martin, who said an army officer told her Flynn was the first of a convoy of trucks on their way to Nanaimo.

Owners of the bicycles are Alan Gilchuck and Berend Frechs, school children who regularly ride from their homes to the corner where they board a school bus.

Car Drivers Admit Guilt In Duncan

DUNCAN—Two speeders, a careless driver and a motorist who left his keys in his parked car were fined in police court yesterday. They all pleaded guilty.

Taxi driver, Mrs. Bertha C. Johnson of Cedar, was fined $15 for driving at 45 mph. on York Road, in a 30 mph zone. A $20 fine was imposed on P. T. Phipps of Victoria for driving at 66 mph. in a 60 mph. zone Oct. 25 on the highway south of town.

A. G. Abrahams, Trunk Road, was fined $10 for leaving his keys in the ignition of his car in a city street Oct. 30. Howard Randall of Cobble Hill was fined $25 after pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving. The charge was laid after an accident Nov. 2 on the Old Koksilah Road, when his car went out of control and into a ditch causing $600 damage.

Family Away

12 Left Homeless By Duncan Fire

DUNCAN—A family of 12 had to go about half a mile to call the police because telephone service in the district was out of order.

The four-bedroom house, about two miles south of here, was enveloped in flames when police and neighbors got there. There is no fire department in the area.

The owner, E. L. Bertrand, an unemployed truck driver, with his wife and three youngest children, was in Victoria visiting relatives at the time.

The fire was first seen by a neighbor, Judy Bartleman, about 11:30 a.m. "I thought Mr. Bertrand was burning slash so I thought nothing of it," she said.

A department of highways grader operator, Charles Boyden, who was working on the road saw the fire shortly after and alerted neighbors. He then Mrs. Bertrand had with her at Victoria her daughters Elaine, Brenda and Delma. The seven others were at school. The 10 children range in age from two to 12 years.

The family is staying with relatives in Victoria overnight.

Two 'Outsiders'

Port Alberni Faces Aldermanic Contest

PORT ALBERNI—An aldermanic contest is assured in Port Alberni between three incumbent aldermen and two "outsider" candidates.

Ald. Fred Weaver, who has held office at various periods for more than 30 years, and has led the polls in more than one recent election, will again be a candidate. Ald. Norman Odgers, another incumbent with many years' service, and Ald. Doug Mallory, elected at a byelection last June, have both signified that they will be in the running.

George A. McKnight, plywood plant employee, and Earle Bowen, a high school teacher, both of whom polled a large number of votes in the byelection won by Ald. Mallory, have entered the contest.

Mr. McKnight has announced he is seeking election with a plan to overcome the school tax situation involved in the fixed assessment agreement.

Mr. Bowen has lived in the district for nine years. He is first vice-president of Alberni Valley Lions' Club and a director of the Civic Music Association. Active in community affairs, especially in youth work, he is advisor to Alberni District Teen Town. He is a graduate of UBC with majors in history and English.

Meanwhile, Mayor Loran Jordon has said that he will seek another term as head of the council. No opposition has yet been announced.

Mayor Jordon, after some 18 years as alderman and chief magistrate, wants to remain in office until a satisfactory solution has been found to the fixed assessment problem which has assumed a critical status in the past few years.

In Alberni, terms of Mayor Jack Luckhurst, Aldermen C. M. Blair, R. R. Foxcroft and George McRae expire. All but Ald. McRae have signified they will seek re-election. No other candidates have yet come forward. Ald. McRae could not be found yesterday.

Nominations close Dec. 7 and elections will be held Dec. 17.

Post Office Motion Tabled in Alberni

ALBERNI—A resolution calling for immediate action to enlarge Alberni post office was tabled by Alberni council pending the outcome of current correspondence with the postmaster general's department.

The resolution, from Alberni Ratepayers' Association pointed out that enlargement of the post office premises is warranted by the increased population, that it would relieve congestion and overcome the hazard involved in box-holders having to descend concrete basement steps to pick up their mail. Immediate construction would provide winter employment, the ratepayers' document pointed out.

Mrs. W. C. Anderson, secretary of the association, spoke to the resolution and objected to it being tabled.

Mayor Jack Luckhurst said: "We are still in correspondence with the postmaster general and until we have failed or succeeded in our present negotiations I don't feel we should take action along the lines outlined in the resolution."

Council is seeking to establish whether it can hold a poll of post office patrons to determine whether or not they are in favor of postal delivery which would only be permitted if the post office were closed.

The motion to table the resolution was made by Ald. T. S. Barnett and seconded by Ald. R. R. Foxcroft. Ald. C. M. Blair supported the motion, stating: "It would complicate matters if this resolution is acted upon while we are awaiting a reply from the postmaster general."

$10,000 Zoo Drive Planned for Island

NANAIMO—Vancouver Island (Nanaimo) Zoological Society made plans yesterday for an island-wide publicity campaign to raise money to keep the zoo in operation.

At a special meeting of members, it was decided:

• To attempt to raise $10,000—the minimum amount needed to operate the zoo.

• Manager Paul Hertel and society president Al Parker will present illustrated talks to clubs and organizations, using a 1,000-foot movie of the zoo's operations.

• Picnic tables and benches will be installed in the 80-acre zoo property next summer.

• Benches will be installed in the 80-acre zoo property next summer.

Mr. Hertel told the meeting he has paid money out of his own pocket to keep the zoo in

You've Been Seen in Town, Cherry You Better Get Home to the Nest

By JIM TAYLOR

Cherry, come home to your wife and family.

You're a pheasant with responsibilities now, Cherry. You aren't the gay, roving bachelor you were when you ran away the first time, last summer.

Think of your home and family. Think of those three little four-month-old babies. What about your wife, struggling to keep your little nest together by herself?

What's the matter, Cherry, are you henpecked? Is that why you ran away again on Sunday? Or maybe you still have fond memories of that time you flew the coop for four months last summer.

For shame! You're a married man now, the chicks are not for you. Stay faithful to your little wife. Remember what they say about a bird in the hand...

Yesterday, someone saw you skulking furtively down Adanac Street, not far from your home at 1762 Pembroke. Feeling a little repentant, Cherry?

If you plan to come back, you had better make it fast. Right now, wife is ready to take you back, no questions asked. So is your owner, Mrs. Jessie Read.

But Cherry, don't wait too long. If they get mad, you're a dead duck. On Christmas day, you can either be a proud father or a main course.

Some 67 administrators are expected to attend and civil defence co-ordinator Brig. G. A. McCarter said a follow-up orientation course for senior and administrative nurses will be held here Jan. 18 to 21.

10,000 Delegates

Convention Boom Year Anticipated

More than 10,000 convention delegates from all over North America will pour into Victoria's Empress Hotel next year.

Forecast of a bumper crop of conventioners for the CPR hotel was made yesterday by Charles Moore, assistant manager in charge of conventions, following a 3½-week junket through California, Oregon and Washington.

He booked some conventions for as far in the future as 1964 and said convention business for Victoria is increasing every year.

Victoria, he added, enjoys a high percentage of repeat business from conventioning groups.

Polio Office Opening Set Monday

Official opening of the Victoria office shared by the B.C. Foundation for Polio and Rehabilitation and the B.C. Society for Crippled Children will be held Monday at 4.15 p.m.

Health Minister Eric Martin will snip the ribbon to open the new premises at 470 George Road East. At the same time, he will officially open the speech clinic sponsored by the foundation.

Work of College Goes on Display

The public will have an opportunity to see Victoria College students doing scientific research work Saturday afternoon.

An open house will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. in the college's science laboratories with displays in biology, zoology, botany, chemistry and physics. Visitors may attend a typical lecture given to freshmen students in chemistry in room 210 of the main building. The lecture starts at 1.15 and will be repeated at 2 p.m. It includes a demonstration of the manufacture of liquid oxygen by pressure cooling air to 300 degrees F below zero.

Pre-medical students will have three years' laboratory work on show. The zoological museum of the college, one of the finest in British Columbia, will also be open for inspection.

A working geiger counter will be among displays in the physics laboratory. Visitors will also be able to talk with students about their work. Displays include experiments in physics and applications of physics in daily life.

Prison Study Course Too Late for Parents

Suggestion from England that parents of children who break the law be sent to prison for a course in family discipline found small favor with Victoria's Chief Constable John Blackstock yesterday.

"Too late," he said. "And who would look after the children?"

An English clergyman made the proposal in a church magazine.

"Imagine the effect on Mr. and Mrs. A," he wrote, "who had been put away to learn how to be good parents.

"One month of really stiff and instructive discipline would be quite sufficient to make the nondescript mother or father take notice of the art of living."

Said Chief Blackstock: "The idea of a course in family discipline for married couples may be fine—but they should take it before they have children, not after the children become public problems."

District Nurses Lead Province

A Royal Oak girl and a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital came first and second in September Registered Nurses' examinations for the province, it was announced late yesterday.

Valerie A. Squance, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Squance of 5790 Oldfield Road, won first place among 281 who wrote the examinations.

Sister Miriam Rita, a Sister of St. Ann and graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital this year, was second.

Third place was won by Patricia A. Walker of Vancouver, a graduate of St. Paul's Hospital in that city.

Valerie Squance, who with her family has lived at Royal Oak for 12 years, was born at Warburg, Alta. She attended Royal Oak High School, where she won a scholarship on graduation in 1955, then attended Victoria College for a year before going to University of British Columbia.

She is now in her final year of nurse's training at UBC, taking her practical work at Vancouver General Hospital.

Sister Miriam Rita's family home is in Montreal, where she attended high school. She became a Sister of the Order of St. Ann in Western Canada, and entered nurse's training at St. Joseph's.

Little Boy Dies

Ladysmith Mother Loses Second Son

A six-year-old Ladysmith boy died in Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday, second victim of a two-car crash on the highway five miles south of Nanaimo early Saturday morning.

Jerry McCaig, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick McCaig, Walker Road, Ladysmith, died of injuries sustained in the crash which also claimed the life of his brother Byron, seven, who died within hours of the collision in Nanaimo General Hospital.

Jerry was rushed to Royal Jubilee from the crash scene along with his mother, Mrs. Nancy McCaig, and Earl Kent, six, also of Ladysmith and also badly injured.

Yesterday hospital officials reported Mrs. McCaig in fair condition, Earl Kent in critical condition.

The crash involved a car driven by Earl's mother, Mrs. Mary Jean Kent, and another driven by Kenneth J. Pridham, Nanaimo.

The McCaig and Kent families had gone together on a theatre outing and a short visit to Nanaimo, and were on the way home when the crash occurred.

Million-Name Plea 'Excellent' Scheme

A proposed 1,000,000-signature "petition of right" to the Queen on behalf of Canada's civil servants was termed an "excellent idea" yesterday by a spokesman for Victoria's 3,000 federal workers.

"We think the idea has a lot of merit—we like it very much," said G. K. Sammon, chairman of the civil servants' local joint action committee.

"We are going to hold a meeting on this next week and if my committee endorses it we will advise the national joint action committee in Ottawa immediately," Mr. Sammon said.

The petition, which would probably go to Governor-General Vanier rather than the Queen, would ask for release of the secret salary recommendations of the federal civil service commission plus some form of collective bargaining for government employees; the local chairman said.

In Victoria, he said, the joint action committee would first obtain the signatures of federal employees and their relatives before going to the public for signatures.

Cancer or No Cancer, They'll Smoke

As long as there are cigarettes there will be smokers, cancer or no cancer. Victorians interviewed yesterday after a luncheon address warning Tuesday by a Victoria doctor, admitted the possibility of smoking causing cancer, but none plan to cut down on their cigarettes. "I think about it, but I won't stop," was the way it was put by Bob Broadhead, 1930

Ernest. Al Wicks, 1117 Grant, pointed out that "some smokers live to be 100." The only thing that bothers Kaare Tandberg, 1766 Carrick, is the expense, and Ed Hallin, 1400 Hillside, said 35 years of smoking hasn't slowed him up a bit. Got a match?—(Colonist photo)

Planner's Blood Pressure Leaps At Ugly Langford-Highway Area

The blood pressure of regional director Brahm Wiesman "goes up 50 points" every time he drives along the Trans-Canada Highway in the Langford area, he said yesterday.

He said so when members of the Real Estate Board of Greater Victoria, at luncheon, asked him what could be done to prevent further unattractive development along the highway approach to the city.

The Capital Region Planning Board is discussing the matter with the provincial government, he said.

"But I think there will have to be some community feeling shown about it," he added.

Mr. Wiesman had an obviously sympathetic audience for a description of the board's master plan for the future physical development of Greater Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula, designed to ward off inconvenience and ugliness.

Obstacle to complete acceptance of the plan by the municipalities, he said, was municipal autonomy, although they had taken a step forward

"by saying that by and large they think it's a good plan and will follow it."

He thought, he said, that if any part of municipal autonomy stood in the way of a good road plan, or of proper development of a park system, for instance, "that part of municipal autonomy is not worthwhile nor a good thing."

Fringe Areas

Bookmobile For City Under Study

Victoria Public Library board beat provincial librarian Willard Ireland to the idea of having bookmobile service within the city limits.

Mr. Ireland suggested this week that the library was doing remarkable work, but that with a bookmobile system in the city "what they could do is fantastic."

The library board, librarian John Lort said yesterday, already has bookmobile operation in the city under study by a committee.

"The committee has been working on the idea of serving the fringe areas of the city by bookmobile—the little children especially—on Saturday," Mr. Lort said.

Bookmobiles, he said, are being used more and more in some cities as preferable to branch libraries.

A fleet of bookmobiles is not contemplated, he added, but "from the demands being made on the present bookmobile, it's possible we may have to consider a second one next year or in 1961, in which case we could expand services considerably."

He was taken to hospital about two weeks ago.

Unified Family Court Backed by Jaycees

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce last night passed a resolution urging immediate establishment of a unified juvenile and family court for Greater Victoria.

The resolution calls upon Attorney-General Robert Bonnet to appoint suitable judges and ensure "proper operation of the court by giving the municipalities such direction or assignment of personnel as will provide sufficient qualified probation officers and other court staff."

The attorney-general's department recently, endorsed the creation of a unified family and juvenile court for the area and offered a measure of assistance in creating it.

Jaycee Brian Small, chairman of the group's government and civic affairs committee, said the resolution was put forward because two Greater Victoria municipalities, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, have shown a lack of enthusiasm for the plan.

The Junior Chamber has recommended that the juvenile court facilities of Colwood be included in the unified court favored by Victoria and Saanich.

Two New Parks Created By Order-in-Council

500 Fund 'Made Christmas a Bright Star in Our Year'

"It made Christmas a bright star in our year."

In one sentence, a grateful woman packaged the feelings of 500 families who received cheques from The Daily Colonist 500 Fund. Hundreds of such notes flooded the Colonist office soon after Christmas, written by people trying to find words to say a special "thank you."

They were written on Christmas cards, on foolscap, or even on scraps of paper. Some, written by crippled hands or by people with failing eyesight, were barely legible. But the message always came through.

"With the cheque I was able to give my four children and myself one of the nicest and happiest Christmases we ever had."

"It made our world and our Christmas seem the best ever."

"When I got the cheque, I knew the children would have a merry Christmas after all."

The letters were addressed to The Daily Colonist, but they were really meant for the people of Victoria whose contributions have made the fund such a success during the past three years.

"If the people who so generously contributed to the fund could see how much happiness and joy is given, they would feel well rewarded."

"Thank everyone for us. We can't really express in words the thanks. It made so much difference in Christmas for our family."

"Thanks to all who made this wonderful gift possible. Tears of joy are so comforting."

In three years, 1,500 such families have been helped at Christmas. Selected by city welfare agencies, they each received a cheque to be used as they saw fit to make their Christmas brighter.

This year, the welfare agencies will pick 500 more families, and again it will be up to the people who contribute. The fund opened Sunday, and since then a total of $205.09 has been raised.

Later this week, a list of donors will be published.

Donations should be sent to The Daily Colonist 500 Fund, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria, or left at the Colonist office at that address. They can also be dropped at the Colonist's downtown business office, 1215 Broad Street. The fund will be kept open as long as possible, and cheques will be sent out just in time for Christmas.

Donations sent now may be your earliest Christmas present of the year. They may also be the most important, and the most satisfying.

Atomic Force Planned

PARIS (Reuters)—The National Assembly Wednesday debated a 1960 military budget that provides for a 1,000,000-man army, half of it stationed in Algeria, and development of an "atomic striking force."

Total estimated expenditure for the year is 1,650,000,000 francs (about $3,160,000,000). This is 61,000,000,000 francs (about $123,300,000) more than the proposed military budget and 16,000,000,000 francs (about $32,480,000) above the estimated actual expenditures this year.

Engagement? Duchess Won't Say

LONDON (Reuters)—A spokesman for the Duchess of Kent Wednesday declined to comment on a newspaper report of rumors of a possible engagement between her daughter, Princess Alexandra, and Crown Prince Harold of Norway. The report by The Daily Sketch gossip columnist says it is known that the crown prince's father, King Olaf, is "anxious that his son should marry into the British Royal Family."

Mother Free, Didn't Know Son Hunting

CHILLIWACK (CP)—A Chilliwack mother, charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency after her son was injured in a hunting accident, was acquitted of the count in police court here Wednesday.

Mrs. John Ferguson testified she did not know that her 12-year-old son had gone hunting with a 14-year-old companion.

Officer Rescues Driver in Plunge

A navy officer plunged into Esquimalt harbor yesterday to rescue a Victoria woman who could not swim seconds after her station wagon skidded off the navy refueling jetty into 35 feet of water.

Lieut. Robert Duston was credited with saving the life of Mrs. Mary Locke, wife of Lt.-Cmdr. M. M. Locke, 982 Darwin. Mrs. Locke, rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital, escaped with mild shock and minor bruises.

Mother of four children, Mrs. Locke still didn't know last night how she had managed to get out of the station wagon. A non-swimmer who is "scared to death" of the water, she dismissed the situation by saying:

"I guess my number just wasn't up yet."

Silent 'Talking Car' Fears to Embarrass

The mystery of why the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce "talking police car" doesn't talk was cleared up for members of the organization last night—more or less.

The car circulates through the downtown area during the pre-Christmas shopping rush and, by means of a loud-speaker, warns pedestrians and motorists against dangerous traffic practices.

Only trouble with the scheme, a number of members pointed out at a general meeting last night, is that the talking police car actually doesn't do very much talking.

And the reason, according to Jaycee senator Bud Simpson, is that the Victoria police constable detailed to participate in the Junior Chamber scheme by talking over the loud-speaker has been under orders from Chief John Blackstock "not to embarrass anyone individually" by talking to them about traffic infractions.

Pearkes Mum On CF-100 Replacement

'Clobber' Sub Fleet In Making

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Admiral Arleigh Burke said Wednesday night that about 45 Polaris missile submarines, the kind the U.S. navy is building, "will be able to clobber any aggressor who would dare attack us."

The chief of naval operations declared that:

With the Polaris in the nation's arsenal of retaliatory weapons "we do not have to keep piling missile on missile just to make sure that some missiles would survive an armed attack."

Mikoyan Arrives In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—First deputy Soviet premier Anastas I. Mikoyan arrived here yesterday from Halifax, N.S., in a turbo-jet plane to open a Russian exposition Saturday.

"I am happy the exposition opening comes at a time when there is a lessening of international tension due to the U.S. talks between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev," he said.

Mikoyan, with a party of 29, was welcomed by Mexican Foreign Minister Manuel Tello.

HARLOW CURTICE

HARRY W. ANDERSON

Curtice Badly Shaken

ST. ANNE ISLAND, Ont. (UPI)—Former General Motors vice-president Harry W. Anderson was shot and killed yesterday by Harlow W. Curtice, retired GM president, during a duck hunting expedition.

The accident occurred on an exclusive hunting preserve on the south end of this island near the Canadian mainland on Lake St. Clair while the Canadian duck hunting season was only hours old.

The operator of the lodge where the accident occurred said Anderson apparently became "excited" and stood up in Curtice's line of fire.

The lodge operator, Capt. Ray Brunzell, said Curtice was "very broken, I can tell you that," by the accident.

IN SAME BLIND

Brunzell said Curtice and Anderson were together in a duck blind and that two other members of their party, Art Brown and George Kennedy, owner of the hunting preserve and lodge, were in another blind.

"It is my understanding that they were shooting at ducks and that Mr. Anderson may have gotten excited and stepped in front of Mr. Curtice," Brunzell said.

STATE OF SHOCK

Ontario Provincial Police constable Owen Collins, who talked with Curtice when the hunting party arrived on the mainland, said the former GM executive appeared to be in a state of shock.

PALE, SHAKEN

"He was pale and obviously shaken by the accident," Collins said. "He was in control of himself but he appeared to be very disturbed underneath."

Collins said Curtice told him substantially the same story about the accident as Brunzell related.

IN LINE OF FIRE

"He said he had taken aim on a duck and Anderson stood up just as he pulled the trigger," Collins said.

Collins said the matter had been referred to Crown attorney S. A. K. Logan but said he presumed "there will be an inquest."

Schools Throttled By Tight Money

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said last night that the "foolish tight money policy" of the federal government is throttling British Columbia's school building program.

"At the provincial level we are doing everything possible to prevent curtailment of school construction," he said.

But, he warned, "unless the money market situation drastically improves the school building program will, of necessity, be severely restricted."

He said the government had authorized school building referendums totalling more than $5,000,000, but "even if the owner-electors assent, neither the school boards nor my department can be assured of the availability of funds on the bond market, or temporary bank borrowings, to enable construction projects to proceed."

He said that in July of this year the provincial government sold $6,000,000 worth of school bonds at a price of $93.54 per $100, or a cost to the boards of 5.758 per cent.

"This month, when we found the market was not receptive to more school bonds, the provincial government purchased $6,000,000 worth of these bonds. This makes a total of $12,000,000 worth of bonds sold this year to enable school boards to continue their construction programs," he said.

Gun in His Stomach Jammed—Saved Him

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man testified Wednesday his life was spared by the jamming of a gun which was allegedly used earlier to kill his sister.

John Rivers appeared at the preliminary hearing of Raymond Leonard Schultz, 31, of Vancouver, charged with murder in the death of Lois Rivers in the bathroom of a suite here Oct. 4.

Schultz was remanded for trial in B.C. Supreme Court. Rivers testified that a 9-mm. semi-automatic pistol was shoved into his stomach by Schultz.

"It apparently didn't fire, so he struck me over the head," Rivers said. He wrestled the gun from Schultz and tried to shoot the accused as he fled the apartment, but the gun was still jammed, he testified.
